Mary Banks praised

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Ailing long term Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks, who was forced to miss the finale of her last term on the Romulus City Council, was warmly praised by her peers Monday night.

Banks, who was believed to be watching the council meeting on her home television was cited by Mayor Beverly McAnally for her "deliberate sense of duty" to the city for over a decade and for her "great sense of humor" that helped her fellow council members get through some tough times in the past.

Veteran Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron told those gathered at the last council meeting prior to Tuesday's election, said "this also is my last meeting here. But in the last 12 years on the council, I thought the world of Mary."

"But following tonight, my life goes on, while Mary is fighting the ultimate battle," Bergeron concluded.

Councilman Randolph Gear, who was chairing the meeting in Banks' absence, said, "Mary always served as a class act. As a freshman councilman, she encouraged me a lot."

Councilman William Wadsworth declared, "I talked to Mary only about a week ago. Tomorrow she will be facing a much more difficult challenge than we who are seeking re-election."

Wadsworth, calling her a "diamond in the rough," went on to praise Banks for the many times she had to cast the

Gear still top vote getter

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

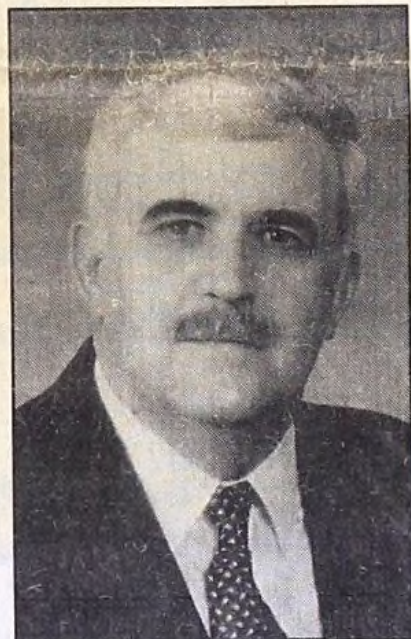

The Romulus City Council will have a major new political chemistry next Tuesday, but veteran Councilman Randolph Gear continued this year as high vote getter on the council with 2,305 votes.

Three challengers have been elected to the new council, namely local truck company owner William Crova, anti-injection well critic Deborah Romak and repeat candidate Mary Collins.

Three other council incumbents earned new terms, including William Wadsworth, Michael Prybyla and Jimmie Raspberry.

Randy Gear

William Wadsworth

One veteran councilman Ellis Pennington lost his chance for a new term coming in eighth in a field of 15 candidates (one short of re-election).

It is assumed that Gear will be named mayor pro tem replacing ailing Mary Ann Banks.

With the apparent election of William Oakley as mayor and Collins, Crova and Raspberry as council members, many expect the atmosphere to change dramatically at regular council meetings.

Many in the community have complained about poems, non-Romulus social items and other comments made during the meetings in the past, extending the time of the sessions to late in the night.

Some Oakley supporters also said they are anxious to see how Romak and Collins, both members of the anti-injection well group known as Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) vote on well related issues.

Wadsworth was an early arriver outside the City Clerk's office Tuesday night and expressed obvious relief and delight with his second place finish.

Raspberry arrived just before the vote was finalized and expressed great joy over the Oakley victory. With the final votes still uncalled, Raspberry stated, "I'm hoping more that Bill wins than even a personal victory in my race."

Collins, who has run several times in the past for a council seat before finally being elected Tuesday, joked when asked how it feels to win "I'm just taking my dad's old advice of 'keep on doing it until you get it right!'"

Prybyla expressed "surprise" by the outcome in the mayor's race, but thanked the voters for the strong support they gave his council candidacy.

The elected council members and their vote totals were: Gear, 2,305; Wadsworth, 2,185; Crova, 2,064; Prybyla, 1,975; Romak, 1,948; Collins, 1,748 and Raspberry, 1,566.

Other candidates and their totals included: Pennington, 1,498; Brooker Edwards, 1,438; Stanley Kreft, 940; John Ryznar, 1,018; Gwen Sibert, 1,226; Jeannine Wafer-Frison, 713; and Tony Heimberger, 539. Write-in candidate Rob McLachlan's votes were not totaled yet.

Oakley scores upset victory

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

"Bill Is Back!" That blunt message was quickly posted outside the watch party of former Mayor William Oakley following his whisker-thin 20 vote victory over 12-year Romulus incumbent Mayor Beverly McAnally late Tuesday night.

Oakley, 65, who hasn't attended a city hall meeting in over a decade, will be officially sworn in on Monday in the City Hall Chambers by 34th District Court Judge Tina Brooks Green.

The contested mayoralty election, the first in Romulus in the past decade, saw just under 4,000 voters troop to the polls to possibly end the long city career for McAnally.

In addition to her years as mayor, McAnally also served the city as council member and city treasurer.

Tuesday's vote count of 1,966 for Oakley and 1,946 for McAnally is listed as unofficial, until Wayne County Election officials canvass the vote. McAnally also has the option to ask for a recount, since the vote difference was so slight.

Romulus has a history of close finishes in its city elections, the closest obviously two years ago, when City Council candidates Michael Prybyla and Mary Collins finished in a tie. A drawing had to be conducted to declare Prybyla the official winner.

Unlike other Metro area communities where winning mayoral candidates have eight or nine weeks to form a new administration, Oakley will be pressed into office next Monday and be asked to form a new city team within weeks.

City Department heads will be asked as usual to turn in their resignations, so that Oakley can rehire or replace them as he so chooses.

Oakley was his usual low-key self late Tuesday night, when informed he was the winner. Oakley told the gathering of family and supporters "I'm the tool for change in this city," but then called upon others to join his effort to make those needed changes.

Both he and his campaign manager Ron Hopson credited the weeks of hard work by Oakley volunteers for the upset victory.

In McAnally headquarters, her supporters alternately cheered and booed as the precinct totals came in and the lead switched from one candidate to the other.

McAnally admitted that she was extremely nervous as the vote was tabulated, but chatted good-naturedly with her supporters at the Romulus VFW Hall as the precinct totals were listed.

Even though well-wishers attempted to boost her spirits, the long-time mayor was visibly disappointed.

"We just have to wait until all of the totals are in," she said when just a few precincts were left to report.

The final figures told the tale.

While the official filing deadline for mayoralty candidates was last June, the campaign didn't really gain any intensity until mid-September.

The issues centered on the injection well project, the encroachment of Romulus land by Metro Airport leaders, possible casinos in Romulus, the

Christmas wish program begins

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

The season of kindness and generosity is fast approaching, and once again the Michigan Community Newspapers (MCN) is organizing the "Christmas Wishes Will Come True" project for residents in Western Wayne County.

Last year more than 100 families received Christmas gifts from MCN courtesy of the newspapers, area businesses, community organizations and residents.

From bicycles to clothes to dinner with all the trimmings, hundreds of gifts were provided to those less fortunate in 1994.

Area families in need are encouraged to write to MCN officials with their Christmas requests for themselves or for another needy family.

Those participating are requested to include an address and work/home phone numbers in order for MCN officials to contact the families to find out more details about the request.

One of the many letters received last year included: "Hi. My name is Lorraine. I'm a single mother of five children. I am a low income family on ADC. I have three girls and two boys. Whatever you can do for my family this Christmas will be greatly appreciated."

Letters can be addressed to: MCN "Christmas Wishes" program, attention: Editorial Staff, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184.

The deadline for letters to be sent to the MCN office is Nov. 24.

All letters will be reviewed by the MCN staff who will select those that will be chosen for the program.

For more information contact Joan Dyer or Margo Dewey at 313-729-4000.

Political activist

arrested Monday

Romulus political activist Steve Lewkowicz was arrested by local police Monday night following a spat with local cable television officials during the filming of the City Council session in City Hall.

According to officials, Lewkowicz, who many times videotaped council procedures privately for Romulus Environmentalist Caring About People (RECAP), initially was upset that problems were blocking the viewing of Monday night's council session throughout the city.

Lewkowicz reportedly marched to the basement Cable TV office and complained to Oliver Warren, coordinator of the cable operations in the city.

When Warren revealed it was a technical problem, Lewkowicz reportedly became enraged and local police were called including Police Chief Daryl Poe, who was in the council audience at the time.

Lewkowicz's loud shouts caused an interruption in the council sessions sending many people into the hallway. Recreation Director Brian Hitsky blocked passage to the basement, as police arrested Lewkowicz. Interior doors were then closed blocking the public's view of Lewkowicz being led away by police.

On Tuesday morning, local police were consulting with the Wayne County Prosecutor's office on the actual charges that would be pressed against Lewkowicz.

Nolen sworn in

as Optimist leader

Jennette Nolen was sworn in as the new president of the Wayne-Romulus Optimist Club by Lt. Gov. Dr. John Miller on Oct. 24.

Past President Alfaye Woods also was cited for her past leadership role. Other club officials also were sworn in.

In September the club conducted its recognitions and awards NOW program at the New Hope Baptist Church in Wayne.

Special guests included Michigan District Optimist Gov. Don Garrett, Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson, Michigan District Training and Development Chairperson Norman Anthony and District Public Relations Chairperson Mary Ann Amos.

Members of the youth group of New Hope Baptist Church provided a special presentation on sign language.

so-called McAnally Boulevard and city finances (both during the Oakley and McAnally years).

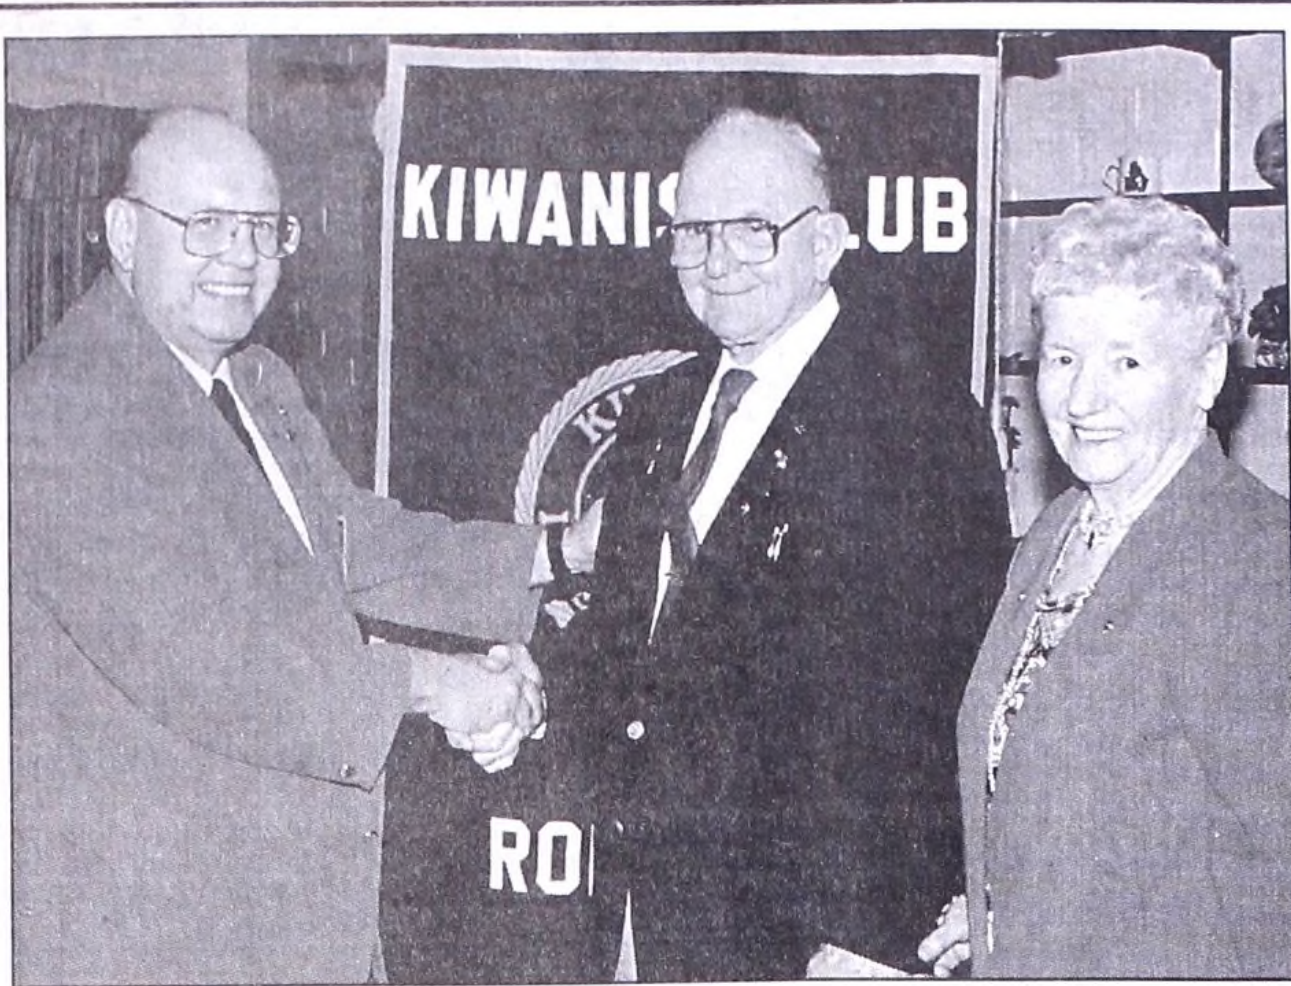

As is the case in any election when an incumbent has been in office for 10 or more years, Oakley pressed the time for a change issue heavily with his theme "Bring Back Bill."

McAnally on the other hand pressed the fact that under her direction, the city has the second lowest tax rate in Wayne County and her administration has upgraded many streets and invited many businesses and industries to open their doors in Romulus.

Tuesday night's victory while tough to achieve was the easy part, Oakley's inner circle revealed, compared to the challenges Oakley faces now in putting together an administrative team and developing strategies for the city to foster in the next two years.

Late campaign reports

Political tricks never seem to go away

The last weekend before Tuesday's city election lived up to advance speculation, as unsigned political mail was distributed and official political signs arose, were distorted and ultimately disappeared.

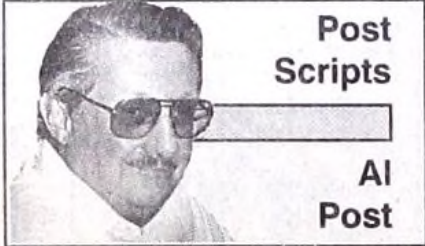

Last minute charges were tossed about, some were even televised and at least one political activist was arrested inside City Hall (see story in the Romulus Brief's column).

The most humorous report was that a large sign stating "Ple-e-e-ease Don't Bring Back Bill!" was erected at a prominent Goddard Road location last Friday.

Reports persist that someone whited out the word "don't" and that hours later the word was returned to the sign. Then mysteriously the sign was sawed off or chopped down and disappeared.

Complaints reached the office the day before the election that Councilman Randy Gear was passing out doughnuts to school bus drivers in the school garage.

Unsigned notes targeting negative thoughts about incumbent Mayor Beverly McAnally (calling her Pinoch-anally and adding a large extension to her nose) were added to car windshields, as well as sheets attacking the images of City Council candidates William Wadsworth, Debbie Romak and William Crova.

Supposedly, a two-year old political handout attacking candidate Mary Collins was reprinted and passed about just before the election.

Some blamed environmental well leaders and some accused fellow candidate John Ryznar. Others said the printing by the Romulus Roman that Councilmen Randolph Gear, Romak and Crova were the top candidates to replace retiring Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks, sent their supporters scurrying about to harm their opponents' campaigns.

This writer asked City Treasurer James Napiorkowski on Monday afternoon if he heard that a last minute write-in campaign for School Board President Debra Hoffman had been organized against him over the weekend.

Napiorkowski expressed no knowledge of the effort, but immediately showed his concern by seeking information from political activists, Hoffman herself and even McAnally.

A check with Hoffman revealed that she was not asking anyone's support this year, but will watch what occurs at the polls on Tuesday.

She did acknowledge that many persons have been asking her to run for the treasurer's office, but said she felt she needed to complete her four-year term on the school board. Hoffman also serves as deputy director of the city's Finance Department.

One of the most extensive sheets passed out to the public just before Election Day was a newsletter entitled "Common Sense Speaks." Like other political handouts it listed no editorship, but did have two articles written by political activist Charles E. Griffiths III.

This newsletter also contained a so-called "Evaluation of the Candidates."

It contains mini-write-ups on the 15 council candidates and takes a few pot-shots at anti-well forces. They include: "Gear...has a short temper; Tony Heimberger...is a one-issue candidate; Stanley Kreft...is unable to make professional statements or decisions...Romak...is unfamiliar with the city's real issues; Gwen Sibert...makes too many personal attacks on other elected officials."

To put it into perspective, City Clerk Linda Choate said Monday afternoon, "Well, at least, this is the most spirited election in years. I'm just glad I'm running unopposed."

Carjacker takes

woman's vehicle

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus police today are searching for a team of carjackers, who forcefully stole a late-model car from a 65-year handicapped woman in the Morgan Manor Complex.

Detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus said the woman was outside her apartment at Diane and Margaret streets walking her dog.

Just as she reportedly entered her parked four-door car (a 1992 Red Dodge Shadow), the victim said, a black male approached her and demanded, "Get out of your car!"

She pleaded, "May I keep my apartment keys?"

And Kraus said the man grumbled, "You can take your keys and your damn dog too."

The man yanked her out of the car by her arm and drove away, Kraus said. It is possible a man driving a red Ford Mustang might have been a partner in the carjacking.

The car was recovered about four hours later at Kenwood and Andover in Inkster. It reportedly was not damaged, Kraus reported.

The main carjacker was described as being a black male with a round face, about 5 feet, 7 inches tall and was wearing a red and black shirt and blue jeans.

Romulus police were able

to put together a possible sketch of the man's likeness from the victim's description.

Other nearby police departments were notified of the carjacking since it possibly was taken because the woman's car bore a handicapped license plate.

Anyone with possible knowledge of this incident or someone who fits the above description should call the Romulus Detective Bureau at 942-6879.

Official Newspaper

bids going in the mail

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

City Clerk Linda Choate sought and has been given authorization to let bids on the city's official newspaper contract.

Romulus City Council members also worked through a number of city issues Monday night to catch up with actions delayed from the meeting two weeks earlier because of a walkout by three council men.

They approved a request by Mayor Beverly McAnally to award a carpeting bid for Fire Station No. 4 to Independent Carpet of Westland in the amount of $3,767.

The council also approved a request to seek bids on two pick-up trucks and three passenger cars. The vehicles will be used by the assessor, ordinance, building, fire department and Department of Public Works employees.

The council also approved 5-1 a rezoning of property at 7300 Middlebelt Road (near Charles Street) from R1-B (single family residential) to C-1 (local business). The "no" vote was issued by Councilman Michael Prybyla.

The petitioner, Esaud Pacheco, plans to create a party store at that address. Several years ago a convenience store was located there, but has since closed down.

The rezoning was recommended earlier by both the city's Planner Dennis Meagher and the Planning Commission.

The council also approved a Brownsfield resolution supporting a Downriver Community Conference effort to clean-up dumpsites and other commercial sites within its city.

City Emergency Management Coordinator Margaret Leduc said the DCC is applying for a project pilot that could be funded via a federal Environmental Protection Agency Brownsfield grant.

Leduc said she and City Community Development Director Jane Downing conferred recently on the possible DCC grant and felt Romulus "could benefit from this pilot program by identifying any parcels of land that are considered 'brownsfields' and work with the owners and other interested parties to make these parcels more marketable."

deciding vote over the years, and "always was a credit to us all."

Councilman Ellis Pennington said Banks was "one in a million," who he and his family "loved like a sister." Pennington added "no one will chair our meetings the way Mary did!"

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry stated "I served longer with Mary than anyone on the council."

He then added "Mary, my colleague and my friend, we will miss you."

The newest Councilman Michael Prybyla admitted he only served with Banks for two years, but felt she was the one that set up the city council's format that has worked so well over the years.

Banks, who is battling against cancer, announced last June that she would not seek re-election.

Alternatives offered to dumping hazardous waste

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKE
MCN Staff Writer

As Westland continually extends its pilot recycling program, residents may be more and more concerned about the use of household chemicals and their disposal.

For years, chemicals have been thrown into the trash, on the ground or down the drain, causing potentially hazardous exposure to homeowners. Although one resident may not think their in-home disposal is dangerous, the effect snowballs into 157,000 people on the average discarding six tons of toilet bowl cleaner, 22 tons of liquid household cleaner and 5.5 tons of motor oil.

Landfills, storm drains and sewage treatment plants are not designed to treat chemical waste and without special treatment, the chemicals stay in the environment and move into recreational and drinking water supplies.

Recently a commissioned survey by the Central Wayne Energy Recovery Limited Partnership polled residents to gauge their interest in recycling. The poll found 70 percent said they had recycled at least one material (excluding returnable bottles) during the last three months. The results show the strong interest residents have in bettering their environment and the popularity recycling drop-off sites have created.

If you have any questions regarding recycling, contact the Department of Public Safety at 727-1770.

The survey also asked if residents would be interested in participating in a voluntary curbside recycling program - almost four in five said yes. Of those interested, more than one-half said they would be willing to spend between $3 and $5 per month for the service.

The expansion and continuation of Westland's pilot recycling program has created a 20 to 25 percent base participation rate of residents with little or no public education on the benefits of recycling programs. Member's of a recycling program committee say that kind of participation without instruction is very positive.

This is the first time since the establishment of the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority that residents will begin to see the direct benefits from increased recycling efforts. The actions result directly from the CWCSA's decision to develop a waste-to-energy project.

Currently the Department of Public Service operates a drop-off site in Westland at 37137 Marquette; Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. The DPS accepts glass; clear, brown, green; plastics; 1 and 2; newsprint; used household batteries (alkaline only); and car batteries.

Several household products have been created if you wish to choose less toxic alternatives to their hazardous counterparts. The Guide to Household Chemical Disposal printed by the city of Southfield includes alternatives to oven cleaner, disinfectants, and mothballs.

• Oven cleaners: let mixture of two tablespoons castile soap, two tablespoons borax and two cups water set in oven for 20 minutes; scrub with baking soda and salt.

• Disinfectants: mix 1/2 cup borax with one gallon of boiling water (not a disinfectant).

• House plant insecticide: Mix two tablespoons dish washing liquid with two cups water and spray on leaves.

• Abrasive cleaners or powders: Rub area with 1/2 lemon dipped in borax, rinse, dry; baking soda or borax.

If you have any questions regarding recycling, contact the Department of Public Safety at 727-1770.

Local teens to march in parade

Three area honor roll students are among 300 Greater Detroit honor students who will participate in a special unit of the 69th annual Michigan Thanksgiving Day Parade.

The 1995 Parade Honor Corps will feature students from more than 90 public and private high schools in the tri-county area. They will be lead by a group of Detroit area Eagle Scouts and First-Class Girl Scouts.

Area participants are Kimberly Mientkiewicz of Romulus, who is on the Principal's Honor Roll, a Student of the Month, Certificate of Merit winner and member of the Society of Women Engineers; Brian Steffani of Romulus, who is on the Principal's Honor Roll, received an Academic Achievement Award, Student of the Month, SADD member and U.S. Senate Exchange Program, and Haneef Sabree of Inkster, who has been honored as Citizen of the Month, National Honor Society and NAACP Freedom Fund award.

Three Taylor residents, Rachel Hurd, Angela Belcher and Deanna Mauro, also will participate in the parade.

Sponsor of the parade is Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan and Blue Care Network.

President vows to boost center

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

A spirit of optimism and enthusiasm -- too long missing from the hierarchy of Wayne County Community College -- was present Wednesday when the new president, Dr. Curtis Ivery, spoke to the Friends of the Western Center advisory council.

With only 40-plus days in his new position, Dr. Ivery is committed to building the offerings and enrollment at the Western Center.

Prior to his speech, Western Center Dean presented an upbeat update on the status of the center.

"I am committed to put resources in place that will, hopefully, make a difference. We will offer weekend classes in addition to a number of short-term certificate and career programs," Dr. Ivery said.

The best news Dr. Ivery brought to the council was his pledge to keep classes at the center, even if enrollment in them is low in numbers.

One of the major sources of frustration to Western Center students in the past has been the canceling of classes, resulting in students having to travel to other campus sites or being unable to complete their degree requirements.

"It may have been a good fiscal management move to cancel classes, but it was not a good PR move," Dr. Ivery said.

"We are going to be offering a number of new programs and courses here. There was not enough time to implement some of these for the spring term, but they will be implemented," the college president said.

Dr. Ivery said he wants to prepare students for the job market with quality classes and a high academic standard.

Among the steps he plans to take to move forward are to gather input from the community about their educational needs, to select quality instructors and to maintain high standards in the college.

"This is a tough times in terms of funding," Dr. Ivery said, noting that the college must look for grants and partnership programs with the private sector.

"I'm proud to be part of this community, and I'm here to serve you," Dr. Ivery said. "Tell us what you need and we will try to respond -- quickly."

"We must do a better job of establishing partnerships with the private sector," Dr. Ivery said.

The college president said he was shocked to learn that in Wayne County, which is the seventh largest county in the nation, less than seven percent of the residents hold college degrees.

It is his hope that Wayne County Community College can greatly improve the educational statistics of its home base through its wide range of new programs.

School-work

Students leave classes for a day to follow careers

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

Future doctors, optometrists, teachers, attorneys and engineers spent Thursday "shadowing" people in the community who have already attained their career goals.

In the Belleville High School-sponsored School-to-Work Program, 20 students spent the day with mentors who took them through their daily routine.

The program, coordinated by counselors Paul Druker and Bruce Bara, was the first of several day-long partnerships between students and the community.

Student Myrtle Smith, who is interested in a journalism career, was paired with Joan Dyer-Zinner, managing editor of Michigan Community Newspapers, the publisher of the Belleville Enterprise.

"We are pleased to be involved in the School-to-Work Partnership, and hope to continue to support the efforts of young people who wish to enter the field of journalism," said Publisher Mike Wilcox.

Smith began her day at the Western Center of Wayne County Community College where she met the new president, Dr. Curtis Ivery, and center dean, Dr. Hattie Johnson.

Later, she accompanied a reporter to interview elementary school students for a future story and then accompanied the writer to several sites where fellow students were involved in the School-to-Work assignments.

When she met student Brianne Leonard, Laurie Jacoby of L&W Engineering outlined her agenda which included a plant tour, working with engineers an opportunity to do some computer scanning.

Jodi Flavell put on the most miles of any of the students when she accompanied Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson on his round of visits in the district. They attended a senior citizens celebration in Huron Township, visited the City-County Building in Detroit, met with Canton Township officials, Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally and Wayne City Manager John Zech.

"We met a lot of different people and traveled a lot of miles," said Flavell, who is eyeing a political career.

"This experience gave me an insight on what doctors do on a typical day," Hicks said.

Kelly Thompson spent the day in the Wayne and Ann Arbor offices of Congresswoman Lynn Rivers, Mariela Lasso received insights on the court system from 34th District Court Judge William Szlinis and Scott Harrison learned about optometry from Dr. Les Neinas.

Various aspects of education were studied in different settings by Melissa Ackron, Jennifer Binert, Sara Featheringill and Kristy Norden.

Fifer Wells accompanied product engineer Jay Hartford, Shauna Zumbro learned about design from Chesley Odom, Rondell Torrey accompanied Pat Spillane of Hobart Co. on his duties and Derrick Mastie and Bart Sears learned about law enforcement from the Van Buren Township and Belleville police departments. David Radecki was paired with Osborne Cement Co. driver John Osborne, and Shannon Campbell accompanied nurse Jennifer Graf to Oakwood Hospital.

Druker hopes to expand the program in the future.

Welfare reform expected to end dependency cycle

A sweeping welfare reform package unveiled by leading Republicans could help end the cycle of dependency and encourage individual responsibility, said an area lawmaker who supports the effort.

State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, said the plan provides a framework to develop the most comprehensive changes in the nation.

"Our state is leading the way. By restructuring the system, we will strengthen families, increase responsibility, and promote community involvement," Law said. "It's a new era. Welfare as we know it will end in Michigan."

Under the plan, the Department of Social Services adopts a fresh name and focus. The new Family Independence Agency would require each adult client to have a customized agreement outlining specific responsibilities. This social contract must be honored for assistance to begin.

"There will be a clear set of expectations," Law said. "Applicants must demonstrate responsibility for becoming self-sufficient before any payments will be made. Failure to comply with the contract will result in swift and certain penalties."

The plan also contains provisions that would:

- Require minor parents to live with a parent or other adult-supervised households.
- Deny or revoke professional licenses of deadbeat parents who fail to pay child support. Forge stronger partnerships with foster parents, adoptive parents and extended families on behalf of children.

Mandate that adult recipients engage in at least 20 hours per week of employment, Work First activities, education or training, or community service.

Broaden child protection services at the local level.

Establish a contingency fund for use during times of high unemployment, to assure that Michigan can assist those in need now and in the future.

The package was developed by several bipartisan advisory groups throughout Michigan that examined such crucial issues as child protection, cash assistance, child care, and Medicaid. Nearly 400 focus groups, involving more than 4,000 individuals offered input.

"Thanks to this grass-roots effort, a sensible plan has emerged. With more incentives, I am convinced that those in need will meet their responsibilities," Law said. "Other Engler administration programs, such as Work First, have proven track record and demonstrate the merit of this approach."

"The basic goal is to reward self-initiative and stress independence. By eliminating barriers to work, and increasing opportunities, many Michigan families will find their way to a better life."

Beatlemania lives

Beatle documentary to air Nov. 19

By Bob Harris
and Benny Speer

Beatlemania returns! Are you old enough to remember the Beatles albums, movies, television appearances, lunch boxes, dolls and even the Beatle cartoon show?

Within the next two weeks the Fab Four's first new release in 25 years, the song Free As A Bird, will include the voice of John Lennon, dead 15 years.

A six-hour Beatle-produced documentary airs locally on Channel 7 ABC starting Nov. 19.

The first volume of the three-volume compact disc (CD) set will hit area stores the next day. Number two and three are to follow in six to nine months.

Lennon's widow, Yoko Ono, who recently cut the ribbon at the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in Cleveland, helped with the compact discs and documentary.

Locally several area bands will do tributes and play extra Beatle songs. The Down River Band, Mersy Beat, plans to be the first musicians in the area to perform the new Beatle song.

Steve King and the Dittilies, the Teen Angels, Bobby Lewis and the Cracker Jack Band also plan to play more Beatle's music.

Deno Valli and Scott Allen of the Wally Jackson Band attended the recent Beatle Fest in Chicago and report Beat-

Heard from Jeannie of Four Star Entertainment. She says she is always looking for new talent including Beatle sound alike.

Jeannie has helped promote Gregory Scott, Blue Canyon, Jamie Coe and Washboard Lewis and soon the new Young Country band Ricochet.

If you need to be discovered, you can call Jeannie Hall at 810-870-3448.

Heard from local musician Robert Bruce. His band, the Dalton Boy, have a new name, Rodeo Drive, and are appearing at Drifters Bar in Saginaw with their next stop in Port Huron.

They hope to be in our area through the summer.

For more information on the new Rodeo Drive Band or Robert Bruce call 313-453-2718.

Robert has a new solo album also available by calling the same number.

New owners at Woodland Roller Skating Center located on Ecorse Road west of Denton Road in Ypsilanti are planning a big Rock, Rollen and Skaten party 7 p.m. to midnight Nov. 17.

All ages are welcome.

Games, prizes and a nationally-known live band will perform. You can call 313-484-0118 for more information.

Entertainment choices for upcoming week selected

What's the best in entertainment and recreation for the this week?

We've checked around the area and found the following "Bests" in a variety of things to do, places to go and sights to see:

Best new movies: Home for the Holidays to see what not to do when you're invited to Thanksgiving dinner, and Gold Diggers for the kids.

Best movie to wait for: The action-packed 007 thriller, Goldeneye with Pierce Brosnan, being released on Nov. 17.

Best return engagement: Indian in the Cupboard

Best tickets to order in advance: The Wizard of Oz ice show, Nov. 15-19 at Joe Louis Arena, and funny lady Rosie O'Donnell, Nov. 23 at the Fox.

Best television viewing: Toss a coin to determine whether you'll watch ER or Murder One. For fun, watch Frazier or Friends.

Best family entertainment: Taking a drive to Jack Miner's Bird Sanctuary near Kingsville, Ontario, to see the migration of thousands of Canada geese. No cost but the gas to get there.

Best holiday tip: Buy your postage stamps early so you won't be in the long line on Dec. 15 with a zillion other later holiday card senders.

New fall shows debut 'Monroes' are far from believable

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

Hello Dynasty-Dallas round two.

Just when you thought the rich and obnoxious had died in the early 1990s with the end of snob families who can't keep track of who is sleeping in who's bed, along comes The Monroes.

The new television drama tells the tale of an ambitious patriarch of a powerful family who wants to run for governor but is haunted by a sex scandal.

His five children include a congressman and a daughter who may be sleeping with the President. This situation political love nest airs on ABC

Thursday evenings.

The cast includes: David Andrews, Lynn Clark, Steven Eckholdt, Cecil Hoffman, Darryl Theirse, Tracy Griffith, Tristan Tait, Susan Sullivan, William DeVane, Sarah Jane Kellard and Jessica Kellard.

I tried to give this show a chance. I really did. But, after the first five minutes I was disappointed.

First of all, besides Susan Sullivan and William DeVane, the rest of the cast is as glamorous as your next-door neighbors.

At least Dynasty and Dallas had the gorgeous blond bombshells such as Heather Locklear and the elegant Linda Evans. These shows also had the most sought-after hunks including Johnathon James.

The other thing is this show is suppose to be the latest "hot" evening prime-time soap bubble, but the relationships are hardly enticing.

Even the plot about the Monroe daughter sleeping with the President has been done before. Let's get a little more original.

There is plenty of room for shows that have drama about a rich family, but not one that has zero personality or sophistication.

This show airs opposite Seinfeld and New York Times which are both more engrossing and entertaining.

I give this a year to survive at the most.

'Charlie Grace' is no 007

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

Mark Harmon has a "nice-guy" look and is a pretty capable actor, but his title role in the new series, Charlie Grace, leaves much to be desired.

It is supposed to be a private eye story with a twist - he's an ex-cop who is also the single parent of a 12-year-old girl - but the plot gets tangled up in the twist.

Somewhere the story line falters between Charlie being a loving, devoted father and his work as a tough private investigator.

When I first tuned in, I thought it was a lame comedy, but I wasn't certain whether it was meant to be funny or it was just the result of some sloppy writing.

My advice to Charlie is to be a bit more like Mike Hammer and a bit less like a re-run of Bachelor Father if he wants to be renewed for another season.

'JAG' jogs along in Navy setting

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

With a "stud muffin" like David James Elliott in a starring role, JAG should be able to attract an faithful audience.

The series is about U.S. Navy lawyers assigned to the Judge Advocate General (JAG) office. Elliott and his attractive female counterpart, Tracey Needham, take on cases of murder, stolen weapons and espionage as investigators, prosecutors and sometimes defense attorneys.

Its producer and creator Don Bellisario, who is responsible for hits like Quantum Leap and Magnum, P.I., believes the series has all the ingredients of a hit - adventure, drama and a hunk in the lead role.

It's season premier wasn't as good as the promotional previews that I watched, but, what show is?

We'll give it another try to see if the hour-long drama can deliver on a continuing basis.

Area mom to star on talk show

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

She captured the hearts of residents throughout the U.S. with the birth of her "miracle" child, Alana Kieren Pullins, and now Westland resident Loretta Pullins continues to tell her story of faith, hope and love.

Pullins, 18, will be featured on an upcoming 9 a.m. Maury Povich television show. She left Nov. 7 on a train bound for New York.

She informed the Michigan Community Newspapers only moments before her departure that she was excited about her trip.

"I've always wanted to go to New York," said Pullins. "I've also wanted to see the Statue of Liberty. I'm a little nervous and excited about the show, but I know it's going to be a lot of fun."

Pullins, 18, was diagnosed last year as having Hodgkins, cancer. She was also pregnant at the time with her daughter.

Loretta Pullins and Alana Kieren Pullins

She risked her life and bet the odds of survival and predictions of her doctors to have her child.

Alana was born 4 pounds, 10 ounces May 16 of this year. She is now a very healthy and happy baby.

Pullins also received a call previous to her departure to New York from Phil Donahue officials, and she is expected to be a guest on that television talk show this month.

Pullins and her mother, Judy, recently moved into their first home in Westland. They are all starting a new life together with hopes that Pullins will recover from her bout with cancer.

She has at least two more months of chemotherapy treatment and is expected to have a full recovery.

Political campaigning has reached a new low in Romulus. The Western Wayne community in which politics are often down and dirty, featured a heated mayoral contest, and 15 council candidates (see Romulus Roman front page for results).

Mike's musings
Mike Wilcox

Last weekend, candidates upped their politicking to a fever pitch. Signage was seen everywhere. Literature from anonymous sources appeared mysteriously in mailboxes and on car windshields. The Monday night council meeting resulted in one resident being arrested. Gosh, even Michigan Community Newspaper offices were the site of pickets organized by RECAP, and council candidate Debbie Romak.

There's nothing wrong with good, honest campaigning. I applaud it. However, some shenanigans need to be investigated. For instance:

- A huge sign, presumably placed by the McAnally campaign, which read, "Please Don't Bring Back Bill" (in reference to her opponent, Bill Oakley), was changed to "Please Bring Bill Back." Later the "don't" was added back. Still later, the sign was sawed to the ground.

- Countless fliers distributed illegally and written anonymously. One flier graphically depicted Mayor McAnally with a Pinocchio-like nose and a headline, "She just will not tell the truth!" Another claims, council candidate Debbie Romak took $10,200 from the city for home improvements and another says council candidate Bill Wadsworth traveled to numerous conferences, but didn't attend the workshops. These are only a few of the many fliers that made their rounds to the mailboxes and windshields of Romulus residents.

It's great to see so many candidates and supporters working hard to make Romulus a better place to live. Usually newspapers, including this one, are complaining about the lack of candidates and participation within the campaign process. Romulus passes with flying colors, here. I just wish, however, that candidates would spend more time on proclaiming their positive attributes, and less on bashing opponents. That, in my opinion, is what politicking is all about.

Kudos this week go to two Wayne residents who saved a man from certain death. Gary Wethington was downstairs at his home on Clinton Street, attempting to douse flames from his refrigerator that had caught on fire. When he opened the refrigerator door, the combination of pressure, smoke and flames caused Wethington to pass out.

Son Dominic heard the commotion and came running down the stairs. he attempted to pull his unconscious father up the stairs, but couldn't. The 12-year-old then ran outside and flagged down Joe Shellhaas, who happened to be walking by. Shellhaas and Dominic, together, were able to pull Wethington up the stairs and shortly thereafter an ambulance arrived to take him to Annapolis Hospital.

Although both Dominic and Joe remain modest and don't consider themselves heroes, we at Michigan Community Newspapers, think differently. Their actions saved a man's life and we would like everyone to join us in praising Dominic Wethington and Joe Shellhaas, two hometown heroes!

MCN wins sports award

A sports feature by veteran sports writer Tom Mooradian earned first-place honors for the Inkster Ledger-Star in the Michigan Press Association annual newspaper awards.

The story, about an Inkster basketball player who earned a place on the Harlem Globetrotter's celebrated team, was described by the judges as "a universal subject with a local angle and some excellent feature writing (which) makes for a winning combination."

The first-place award is a "first" for Michigan Community Newspapers, which bought the former Associated Newspapers last October.

While we are pleased to have received this honor, we will not be satisfied until we have earned honors in all categories of newspaper writing.

We plan to make our newspaper better with each edition, and to make this prize the first of many more to come.

Concert was 'fun' event

To the editor:

Monday night my husband and I were fortunate to obtain tickets to the Halloween Concert at Belleville High School.

Although some of the sound and lighting effects were a bit beyond my 70 years, I found the entire evening enchanting. I was startled to find spiders flowing from the ceiling, fog surrounding me and ghoulish figures firing guns at each other. However the moment of truth arrived when the band played the William Tell Overture.

At one point I actually closed my eyes to determine if this was indeed a high school band or was I transported into a concert hall with professional musicians.

Seeing faculty and students involved together in being outrageous made me long to be young again. What a fun evening.

certain impatient drivers in this area. On Nov. 2 I was going along Canton Center Road, between Michigan and Ford Road when I was tailgated by this smartie who passed me and squeezed into the small space ahead of me before another car.

I always leave a double length distance ahead. Mind you, I was going the proper speed, 50 miles an hour as on the signs. I wish there would have been a cop there. If I was going, 50, then this person was speeding. For a few seconds, why is it necessary to show their irritation by pushing bumper to bumper, and passing someone who is obeying the speed limit? This is bird-brained mentality. As if they are so much more important than anyone else. These huge palaces being built are going to some people's heads around here. It used to be peaceful on these roads.

By the way, the speed limit should be 45 again, now that the traffic has increased so drastically. The red light is good at the Summit Road, but if Canton is able to spend multi millions on the complex, why can't they put some street lights along dark Canton Center Road.

Meeting dubbed 'circus'

To the editor:

We are fed up with the Monday night circus that the current administration in Romulus calls a council meeting. As long-time residents it is embarrassing to us to see our elected argue and take shots at each other like a class of school kids. School kids without a teacher in attendance!

We can't believe that the mayor allows this to continually happen - an on cable yet! This constant childlike behavior is very counterproductive to the effective handling of city business.

What we find most troublesome is the fact that these people seek re-election. Get real - the mayor and her core crew can't even run a meeting - should we let them try and run this city?

Woman is mugged

To the editor:

This past Saturday, Nov. 4, 1995 at approximately 6 p.m. in the evening a very unfortunate situation occurred that everyone always heard about, and really doesn't pay that much attention to unless it finally hits "home."

My wife had just gotten off work, she's the manager of the "Loop" at Westland Mall, she went by Farmer Jacks located at Ford Rd. & Wildwood to pick up a few things before she came home. When she was leaving and putting these groceries in the trunk of her car, she was "mugged," assaulted from behind and her purse was taken. Thank God she is still alive, it could of been worse. And as always most people don't want to get involved.

After this incident she explained to me that although there were many people in the parking lot when this "attack" took place, all were just getting in their cars and ignoring my wife's screams for help! This makes me feel very ashamed of my fellow Westlanders, and the human race!

Everyone ran, all but one woman had what it took, the guts to chase this person off and try to get a license plate number as this piece of garbage was getting in his car, and took off heading east on Ford Road. Guess where to?

To this women I want to say thank you for caring enough, and assisting my wife in her hour of need. This lady had a phone in her purse, and I was called/notified from the parking lot of

Educational problems need re-thinking in future

By Dr. Curtis L. Ivery
WCCC president

Guest Editorial

A few days ago I read an excellent article that appeared in a major metropolitan newspaper which outlined some of the problems blighting higher education in our country. It didn't canvas a pretty picture.

As we approach the 21st century, all of our great American institutions it seems are under siege. Little seems to work properly anymore. We appear bedeviled by one appalling and apparently irreversible problem after another.

Over the past few months there has been a dramatic resurgence of interest in education in our country. We have been virtually inundated by a wave of studies and reports placing education at the top of the nation's agenda.

Let's take a sampling of just a few of the problems in higher education outlined in the news article: too many professors teaching leisurely schedules, scant emphasis on quality, classes needed for graduation not being offered, disproportionate use of part-time teachers, tuition cost beyond the purses of many, and business leaders complaining about the lack of basic skills of college graduates. Are any of these on the mend?

We can be sure that the public won't stand for much of what is now being reported. Some citizens are already suggesting that the federal government should get more involved in protecting its investment in higher education, chiefly the money it provides for student loan programs.

According to Joan Stark, professor of education at Syracuse University, "We should expect detailed examination of institutions, refunds to students for inadequate services, warranty periods on purchased education, and even malpractice insurance for faculty."

If we find all of this a little disconcerting, then maybe those who find themselves in high education leadership roles will be challenged to act. They must first of all admit that regulation and review have come about largely because of their own short-sighted vision.

Arguably, to some extent administrators have abdicated responsibility for improving undergraduate education to state legislators and state regulatory agencies, thus issuing in a serious, troublesome new phase of consequentialism permeating education.

The movement toward greater accountability and the assessment of education outcomes is being discussed by public officials at all levels, often in specific terms, considering such issues as academic governance, curriculum student retention and satisfaction and a variety of other matters invoking institutional policy. As state government boards become substantially more involved, we should remember the adage: "He who has the gold makes the rules."

Higher education's reliance on state governments has ballooned dramatically over my past 20 years with a proportionate level of influence and control.

Hold a casual conversation with any state school board official and likely the first work to come out of their mouth is "accountability." Your educational outcomes must be "measurable" they will say.

For all education, accountability is the new watchword. The state agencies are demanding that those in charge be responsive and responsible in the use of resources being provided.

As I find myself pondering the state of higher education in this country, I was stuck by the notion expressed by a respected author: "Just maybe the prime function of education is not measurable."

Dr. Curtis Ivery

Perhaps there's something to this line of thinking. It sounds good, and if nothing else, should we all buy into it, a lot of well meaning bureaucrats would be searching for another line work.

In spite of the way I tend to see things, whatever the present shortcomings of our colleges and universities, the recurrent response to setting things right is responsibility, better management system, and doing more with less. It is time to retrench, restructure and soberly rethink of excesses of the recent past.

this incident. I immediately went up to the store. At the time of this attack there were no lights on in the parking lot, afterwards when her "screams" finally created a commotion, the manager came out to see what had happened. When this person went back inside to call the police, ironically, the lights got turned on, and then the parking areas became well lighted. After the fact!! Perhaps, more than likely if these lights were on, this attack may not ever happened!

Youngsters complimented

To the editor:

I am an elderly long time resident of western Van Buren Township.

On Halloween, I was unable to be at home to greet the "Trick or Treaters" so I put a box of well known candy bars on my front porch with a sign on the door asking that they take two and leave some for others. I had what I thought was an adequate supply based on the numbers I had in past years when the weather was good.

When I returned I was tremendously pleased to find that almost half remained in the box. Had the weather been better I'm sure I would have had more traffic but those who came showed they could be trusted.

I salute these young people. They have proven that all of today's youth are not bad. Only a few have given the rest a bad name. Not all are greedy punks who have no respect for others. These kids showed they are willing to share, are trustworthy and considerate of others.

Lets give them the proper credit.

'Level field' supported

To the editor:

Senate Bill 722 should be supported.

The current revision of the Michigan Telecommunications Act will ensure a level playing field, promote competition so that consumers will be given the best possible service at the best prices, and introduce new technologies to the market faster. I am also concerned about a portion of the bill that gives non-Ameritech companies entry into the market before Ameritech is able to compete on this level playing field.

First, we must ensure a level playing field for all competitors. Our country has lost key industries because our Federal Government did not ensure our nation's businesses were given this level playing field. Instead they chose to sit by and pile regulation upon regulation on businesses in our country and then let products into the country that could be produced much cheaper. Senate Bill 722, in Michigan would provide that level playing field. It's unfair to have regulated Ameritech for all these years and not give them a fair amount of time to get to the plate to bat.

Second, this bill will spur the communication companies to provide the best customer service at the lowest rates. If consumers can pick from numerous competitors on a level playing field, each player will have to give good customer service to retain/increase market share.

Thirdly, competition will give consumers new technologies faster because all companies will want to do something more to gain customers. I believe that regulation has hurt all consumers by allowing communication industries to remain in a protected cocoon.

Finally, I would encourage lawmakers to ensure that the consumers will not have to subsidize non-Ameritech companies by giving them access all below Ameritech costs. Vote yes on SB722.

Commercial questioned

To the editor:

While I have not had a change to see the television commercial of council candidate Ken Mehl yet, I understand that it has a short film clip of me at a televised council meeting making a comment to Mr. Mehl. The comment that he aired on his commercial went something like "Ken, you're a very intelligent person, and you know a lot about municipal government..." but the problem is that he failed to air the remainder of the comment that I made. It went something like "...now why don't you put that knowledge to some positive use for our community instead of using that knowledge in a mean and vindictive way all the time. Just think what we could accomplish for our community."

Since this commercial may mislead some of our citizens, I want everyone to know that I do not support Ken Mehl in his bid for a council seat in the Nov. 7, election. While I can work with most of the candidates who are running this year, I have only officially endorsed two candidates, Glenn Anderson and Richard LeBlanc. I have not endorsed Ken Mehl. I believe that Mr. Mehl's reasons for running are not in the best interest of our residents. Since Mr. Mehl has been off the city council, the relationship between the Council and Mayor has improved a great deal. While we have not agreed on every issue over the last few years, the council and mayor have been able to put political differences aside to solve problems and make our city a better place to live and do business. Both sides of government have worked together to bring positive ideas to Westland, and we have been successful.

I do not believe that Ken Mehl is the right choice for our Westland residents as a member of our city council.

School leaders supported

To the editor:

I was disappointed to read the articles that appeared in recent issues of the Ledger Star.

As a long-time resident of the Inkster School District, who has paid close attention to what has been occurring with our schools, it is absolutely clear to me, and I am sure to the hundreds of fellow residents who voted for Ms. Beverly Johnson and Dr. Harold Fowler, that they are two of the most outstanding people we have had to come forward to be willing to serve on our school board.

Not only are Dr. Fowler and Ms. Johnson knowledgeable, articulate and committed to the progress of our city, but they are both persons who know the value of a quality education.

I supported their election and will continue to do all that I can to continue to support them in the future.

Christmas Delights cookie contest begins Nov. 20

Prizes are being offered to the bakers who submit the best cookie recipes to our Christmas Cookie Contest.

The holiday baking season is just around the corner, and it is time for good cooks and bakers to bring our their favorite recipes for Thanksgiving and Christmas get-togethers.

Whether your specialty is Santa-shaped cookies, chocolate-frosted brownies, ever-popular chocolate chip treats, miniature fruit-filled tarts or a special variety of Grandma's favorite cookie, we are looking forward to including them in our judging.

This year, Michigan Community Newspapers is sponsoring a Christmas Cookie contest during the week of Nov. 20, just before the Thanksgiving holidays.

We are inviting bakers from our six communities to submit a recipe for their favorite holiday cookies, along with a sample (approximately a dozen) for the judging. Our panel of cookie gourmets will evaluate the recipes, sample the entries and award three prizes to the winners.

The first prize will be $100 worth of cook ware and baking accessories and dinner for two. Second- and third-prize winners will each receive dinner for two.

Clearly label the cookies (attach a tag or paper) with your name, address and phone number and the name of the cookies. Also, secure the recipe to the cookie container with tape or staples.

Those who submit entries may bring them to the Wayne office, 34450 Michigan Ave., west of Wayne Road, or to the Belleville office, 397 Main Street, corner of Fourth, during regular business hours, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. between Nov. 20 and Nov. 22 or between 8:30 a.m. and noon on Nov. 24.

The final judging will be done on Nov. 24 and winners will be notified and prizes awarded. The winners will be photographed with their winning entries and the recipes will be published by Michigan Community Newspapers.

Questions about the contest may be directed to Joan Dyer-Zinner or Margo Dewey at 729-4000 during regular business hours.

Westland newspaper carrier assaulted, vehicle damaged

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

When a convoy of masked men wielding tire irons and baseball bats allegedly attacked newspaper carrier Lance Young, they picked on the wrong guy -- a lawyer.

Young, a Westland father of two young children, is an attorney who specializes in class action lawsuits.

The attack, sent him to the hospital with major bruises and sent his 1995 Ford Ranger pick-up truck to the bump shop with about $10,000 worth of damages.

He is considering pressing charges against his assailants and filing a lawsuit or two against those he holds responsible.

Here's what he told Plymouth Township police:

Young said that he was attacked by a convoy of about 100 cars at 3:15 a.m. last Sunday morning while pulled over on the shoulder of the eastbound M-14 and Sheldon Road entrance ramp to change three flat tires. The flat tires were probably caused by star nails allegedly dumped onto the streets fronting the Free Press distribution center in Plymouth Township by masked pickets.

"Star nails are made from two construction nails," Young said. "The heads are cut off and then the nails are each bent into an L. Then they're brazed together in the middle so that when they're thrown in the road, one point is always up."

"Pickets usually throw two five-gallon bucket loads at a time in front of you. They disabled 14 vehicles Sunday."

Knives and screwdrivers are also used to slash tires, he added.

Before allegedly attacking Young, about 125 pickets used star nails to flattened 20 tires on 14 of the carriers' vehicles. They also allegedly keyed carriers' cars, busted windows, and punctured lights, causing $15,000 worth of damage claims, according to Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry, who is reviewing video tapes of the incidents to identify the suspects.

Young speculates that he ran over the star nails while leaving the distribution site ahead of a planned carrier convoy.

As he drove up the east-bound ramp to M-14, he heard a loud noise indicating a flat tire, which was the 12th for him during the strike period. When he stopped to change it, he heard the sound of another

"Pickets usually throw two five-gallon bucket loads at a time in front of you."

- Lance Young

tire going flat.

"I had not even managed to tighten the lug nuts when a 100-vehicle convoy headed up the ramp toward me," said Young.

As he stood by his vehicle, those in the convoy shouted names at him and tried to hit him with their signs. Several of them threw beer bottles and rocks at him, Young said.

"After the first 30 vehicles passed, a van that I recognized skidded to a stop in front of me, followed by two other vans. A person came out of one van with a tire iron and another guy came out with a baseball bat. More people started getting out and they started threatening me. 'Time to pay,' they said."

"As the first two circling in on me, I was hit in my back right shoulder with a beer bottle. I turned around and saw about 12 men with baseball bats, picket signs, tire irons, and a big flashlight almost on me. A beer bottle whizzed by my head."

"So I jumped into my pickup, locked the door, grabbed my mobile phone, and started dialing 911. Before I could push the last button, my driver-side window shattered and I flung my arm up and blocked a brick with my forearm."

"The guy who had thrown the brick was knocking glass out of window with a tire iron and flailing the iron at me. People were beating the truck on all sides. Then the car began to rock like they were trying to push me off the jack and down the hill."

"Then arms reached in through the busted driver-side window and they tried to pull me out through the window. As they were yanking, somebody smashed my windshield," Young said.

Young said he heard cars honking and the attackers disappeared into their trucks and cars. He counted 70 vehicles in the convoy.

Though in pain, Young backed down the ramp to the warehouse on two flat tires and filed a report with the Detroit News Agency's security department. Friends unloaded Young's papers and delivered them to his 550 customers in Westland and Canton.

"My papers got delivered by

my friends. Otherwise, the Free Press would have charged me for the papers and billed me triple for delivering them," he said.

Security drove him to the Oakwood Hospital satellite at Canton Center and Warren Roads at 4:15 a.m.

"I couldn't move my swollen arm or fingers," he said. "But it was just major soft tissue bruises and the doctors gave me pain killers and sent me home."

Young resigned the next day and reported the incident to Plymouth Township and state police. The case is under investigation, according to Chief Berry. There are no suspects, but Berry noted that the attack occurred immediately after the pickets left the distribution center and headed up the ramp, placing them at the attack scene and in the attack time frame.

Young also identified one attacker. However, the identification hasn't been verified, Berry said.

Union leaders failed to return our call when provided an opportunity to give their version of the events.

Young is already planning criminal and civil action. "I'm going to push for assault with deadly weapon or attempted murder charges against the man who attempted to pull me out of my truck. And for assault and battery against the others," he said.

Young has already filed an unfair labor practices complaint against the Teamsters Union with the National Labor Relations Board, he said.

And that's not all. "I'm considering suing Teamster Local 372 members who (allegedly) got out of their vehicles and attacked me," Young continued. "And I'm suing the Free Press if they don't reimburse me for damages as they've agreed to do."

Meanwhile, Young said he's looking for another part-time job.

Commissioner schedules meetings

Bouncing back

Capuchin Soup Kitchen to accept donated cars

Father Jim Leary, Capuchin director, announced that the Capuchin Soup Kitchen will accept used cars in good condition (at least drivable) to help fund its five-month old "Bouncing Back" Jobs and Transportation Program.

Metro Detroiters interested in contributing their used automobiles for a tax write-off can contact Ken Dillard at the Capuchin Soup Kitchen at (313) 579-2100 ext. 204.

Money derived from sale of the used cars will help to defray the staff and transportation costs of the new Soup Kitchen program called "Bouncing Back." Begun in June, the program connects 150 poor, often unskilled, hard-core unemployed men and women of Detroit with existing, decent-paying suburban jobs (at least $5.50 an hour or more in wages) through transportation in soup kitchen vans and a newly donated bus from SMART.

The vehicles have carried men and women from Detroit to jobs in Macomb County, so far, around the clock, on a three-shift basis. The Soup

The job participants are primarily Capuchin Soup Kitchen clients or residents of the agency's residential treatment facility called Jefferson House.

Kitchen also provides breakfast, boxed lunches when needed, work clothes, and job readiness workshops and materials (birth certificates, state identifications, etc.)

The job participants are primarily Capuchin Soup Kitchen clients or residents of the agency's residential treatment facility called Jefferson House.

To donate a car, contact Ken Dillard at the Capuchin Soup Kitchen at (313) 579-2100, extension 204. For more information about the car donation program or "Bouncing Back," contact Father Jim Leary, Capuchin director, at (313) 579-2100, extension 200 or 203.

Clark named to economic post

Archie Clark has been appointed deputy director of the Wayne County Department of Jobs & Economic Development. The appointment was announced by Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara.

In his new position, Clark will oversee all administrative functions for the department and its five operating divisions: business development, community development, education and job training, marketing & communications and planning.

Clark will also be the department's legislative liaison with the Wayne County Commission, the state legislature and chief elected officials in Wayne County's 43 communities.

"Archie Clark has excellent qualifications for the job and has a great deal to offer Wayne County," McNamara said. "He has been a successful entrepreneur and also has significant cant experience with the legislative process."

An Ecorse resident, Clark starred in the National Basketball Association for 10 seasons until his retirement in 1976. He is a founding member of the NBA Retired Players Association and is a member of the NAACP.

Kienbaum becomes 61st president of state bar

Thomas G. Kienbaum, partner in the Detroit office of the law firm of Dickinson, Wright, Moon, VanDusen and Freeman, took office as 61st president of the State Bar of Michigan at the close of the organization's annual meeting in Lansing.

Kienbaum succeeds current President Jon R. Muth of Grand Rapids.

Kienbaum holds his undergraduate degree from the University of Michigan and his law degree, magna cum laude, from Wayne State University Law School, where he served on Wayne's Law Review and clerked for then-Court of Appeals Judge Charles Levin.

Kienbaum succeeds current President Jon R. Muth of Grand Rapids.

Kienbaum joined the Dickinson, Wright firm upon his law school graduation in 1968, concentrating in labor and employment law. He currently chairs the firm's 25-member Labor and Employment Practice Group.

C.S. Valle Jr.

Small businesses offered advice

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

When C.S. Valle Jr., development director for the Small Business Administration talked to members of the Inkster Land Development Corp., he brought some positive news.

Valle said loans more than doubled this year, and application forms have been simplified.

"For loans under $50,000, the application has been reduced to both sides of one page," he said, noting that other forms are being downsized also.

Valle noted that the number of minority loans is still not at the level that they should be, but the SBA is working on correcting the situation.

"You people in Inkster are fortunate that you already have relationships with local banks in place," Valle said.

The development director brought materials about various SBA programs to the Inkster meeting.

He noted that the general loan program represents 90 percent of the agency's total loan effort. Between 1980 and 1990, SBA provided guarantees for 180,000 loans worth more than $31 billion.

Other loans available include the 504/503 Development Loan Program, the Small Business Investment Company Program, the Microloan Program plus export finance, disaster loans, procurement assistance, the Surety Bond Program and the 8(a) Program which helps socially and economically disadvantaged individuals enter the economic mainstream, partly through access to federal contracts.

There are also special programs for women and veterans.

A definition of "small business" is difficult, according to Valle, because in some categories it is a company with sales under $6 million and in other categories, the total sales can be as high as $17 million.

Although the LDS usually meets at 8:30 a.m. on the fourth Thursday of each month, because of the holiday the group will meet at 8:30 a.m. Nov. 16 at the Tri-City Restaurant.

Mentors sought

Older teens need to aid young girls

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

"Go Girls" is looking for a few good, young women to serve as mentors for seventh through ninth graders.

Cynthia Johnson, executive director, is planning to train young women from 10th grade through college freshmen to help younger girls build social skills, self-awareness and self-esteem in order that they can become self-motivated and self-sufficient women tomorrow.

Interested young women may contact her at 467-6025 or 881-3512.

Giving Our Girls Incentive for Real Life Situations (Go Girls) is a non-profit organization whose primary objective is to help mid-teen to make positive life choices.

High drop-out rates and increases in teen pregnancy are major consequences of low self-esteem, Johnson said.

Go Girls will address problems through positive peer influence, she said.

The young mentors will receive training in parent/teen conflict, employability skills, drug and alcohol prevention, tutoring and study skills, cultural diversity, exercise and fitness, conflict management and communication skills plus "you're not ready for sex" training.

The 22-week program will be held twice yearly.

Go Girls will service approximately 1,385 girls and young women. Of the girls to be serviced, 86 girls and young women will be in-house participants in the Go Girls 22 week after-school mentoring program.

Presentations are slated to be delivered to 1,299 girls during the day in school districts in and around the Inkster area.

The free training sessions are slated at the Inkster Family Investment Center, 29999 Pine St., Inkster.

National debt limit approaches

Rep. Nick Smith, (R-Michigan), a founder of the 160-member Debt Limit coalition said that the federal government is only $21 billion away from reaching the debt limit.

Smith, however, expressed confidence that the Treasury Department is beginning to manage its cash flow.

The representative reiterated his group's pledge to vote against any increase in the debt limit until legislation is signed by the president, putting the government on a path to a balanced budget by the year 2002 or sooner.

"With the debt limit only $21 billion away, I'm confident that the president and the Treasury Department are well underway in managing the government's cash flow," said Smith, a member of the House Budget Committee.

"Treasury's decision to scale back bond auctions is not without precedent," Smith said. "In October 1990, Treasury delayed several actions while Congressional leaders worked out the details of a budget agreement. In fact, in 1993, 1984, 1986, 1987 and 1990 Treasury delayed or scaled back auctions."

The Wizard Of Oz On Ice $9 million extravaganza stars Michigan native

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

The classic tale which is full of courage, heart and friendship is reawakened once again as Kenneth Feld presents The Wizard Of Oz On Ice at the Joe Louis Arena Nov. 15-19.

The lavish $9 million production is the largest ever staged of The Wizard Of Oz and the first live presentation on ice of the American classic.

The classic tale stars Michigan native Jeri Campbell as Dorothy. Campbell, 24, grew up on the ice. The youngest of five in her family, she was raised in Garden City.

Her passion for the ice said she began when she was only five years old.

"When I started skating, my parents couldn't get me off the ice," said Campbell. "I have four brothers, and when we were younger, we would all play ice hockey. After awhile, they became involved in other sports, and I stayed with ice skating."

Campbell climbed the ladder of success in the figure skating world quickly, competing in the U.S. National Championships for nine consecutive years and skating as a member of the U.S. international team for five years.

After years of competing as an amateur, she decided to hang up her skates in 1991. For the following three years, she embarked on a successful career as a coach.

In 1993, Campbell was offered an opportunity to perform with a professional ice show. While she was touring, she competed in her first professional skating competition, earning two gold medals in the Dorothy Hamill Crown.

"The first big ice show I ever performed in was with Dorothy Hamill's Ice Capades," said Campbell. "That was a wonderful experience. We traveled to quite a few states throughout the U.S.

"I really enjoy traveling with various productions because you get to meet so many interesting people."

When the Wizard production began to organize, Campbell said it was all "luck" that landed her the main role.

"I heard that Kenneth Feld was putting together a few new shows, and I wanted to be a part of the projects because I know that anything he creates is a success," said Campbell. "I sent in my video and resume. I eventually interviewed with Ken, and I found out I got the job."

Campbell said what is ironic is that many other professional skaters had put in a bid for her spot, but she was selected out of at least 20 hopefuls.

"This is really an honor to play Dorothy, especially when it was last portrayed by Judy Garland who I admired," said Campbell. "The Wizard Of Oz has been my favorite movie for years."

Campbell lived in Los Angeles since she was 15 years old, previous to landing her new role with the Kenneth Feld production. She has since moved back to Michigan to be closer to her family.

Although Michigan doesn't have sunshine year round, who can blame Campbell for turning in the oceanfront for the Great Lakes. After all, there is "no place like home".

Tickets are now for The Wizard Of Oz On Ice at all TicketMaster locations or the Joe Louis Arena. For ticket prices and show times call 1-810-645-6666 or 313-396-7600.

History behind the Yellow Brick Road

L. Frank Baum's delightful story, The Wonderful Wizard Of Oz, as it was originally called, was published in 1900.

What began as a fairy tale told to neighborhood children blossomed into more than 39 full-length books penned by a dozen authors, short subject films, stage and musical presentations, a highly successful motion picture and now, a $9 million live ice spectacular, The Wizard Of Oz On Ice.

In the original book version, Dorothy's slippers were silver and there were no farmhands or Professor Marvel (the whole idea of the dream and the characters in multiple roles were devised for the movie).

While in Baum's Land of Oz, Dorothy and friends encounter Kalidaha, the Quadlings, Mr. Joker and the Hammerheads.

Over the years, the tale has

The Wizard Of Oz won three Academy Awards for 1939, one for Original Score, one for Best Song, Over the Rainbow...

been adapted and enhanced, but the basic warmth and integrity of the characters has been maintained.

And The Winner Is...

The Wizard Of Oz won three Academy Awards for 1939, one for Original Score, one for Best Song, Over the Rainbow and a special statue honoring Judy Garland for her outstanding performance as a screen juvenile.

The Best Picture Oscar that year went to Gone With The Wind. Other contenders were: Goodbye Mr. Chips, Love Affair, Mr. Smith Goes To Washington and Of Mice And Men.

Belleville puts Flint in deep-freeze

Rematch Saturday with Monroe to decide regional title

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Undefeated Belleville put visiting Flint Carman-Ainsworth into the "deep freeze" early Friday night and chalked up a record-shattering 10th consecutive victory, 42-6, before approximately 3,000 shivering - no freezing - high school football fans at Belleville High.

It was the first time any Belleville High football team had won a post-season playoff victory. A year ago, coach Bob LaPointe and the Tigers were eliminated from the playoffs by a determined Westland John Glenn.

This time, however, Belleville sent a message that it would not tolerate a repeat of a year ago. With senior full-back Ian Gold returning to the lineup briefly, Belleville exploded to a 28-0 halftime lead and never looked back.

The relatively easy victory over a highly-touted Flint team, that came into town with a 7-2 record, even surprised LaPointe.

"Our kids got down to business early and never let up," said LaPointe. "These kids are determined to leave their mark on football."

The Belleville victory sets up a rematch with Monroe, a team that the Tigers defeated during the course of the Mega Conference Red Division season. The two conference rivals will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday at Belleville to decide the Class AA region II championship. And, the victor will continue its quest for a state football championship.

"They have been waiting to play us again," stressed LaPointe, commenting on the pending rematch with Monroe. "This is their opportunity to do so."

LaPointe believes the second-time around will be a more physical and hard-fought game. He also believes "that the key to the game is stopping quarterback Dan Cole.

"If we let him scramble, we will be in trouble," LaPointe warns. "He makes Monroe click."

Monroe qualified for the second-chance meeting by turning back an outstanding Clarkston team, 14-7.

LaPointe said that the regional finalists know each other's strengths and weaknesses. Monroe lost the initial encounter to the Tigers 34-14, with five turnovers playing a crucial role in Monroe's demise.

"They know us. And we know them," LaPointe said. "But you never how that ball is going to bounce."

You can say that again, coach. Just ask University of Michigan's Lloyd Carr whose 13-point favorite, and seventh-ranked nationally Wolverines lost to Michigan State on Saturday. Bet you Carr didn't get any sleep Saturday night.

But if Flint had any plans for an "upset" on its mind Friday night, it was erased early.

Gold, unavailable to play in the final two games of the regular season, returned to the starting lineup and scored two TDs in the only three times he handled the ball.

Taking no chances that the senior fullback would reinjure his leg, LaPointe pulled Gold after the first quarter.

The first time Gold got the ball, he bolted off-tackle and raced 55 yards for a touchdown. In less than 10 minutes of action, Gold had added two more touchdowns to his season's total. Was it 19 and 20 or 20 and 21? Officials didn't have the totals available at press time.

The defense accounted for the second first-quarter Belleville TD. Cornerback Sam Reed picked off a Flint pass

With teammate Mike Williams providing the protection, Belleville running back Joe Manuel (8) heads for Flint's first line of defense. Manuel and his teammates found the weather - the temperatures dipped below the freezing mark during the game Friday night - rougher than their opponents as they chalked up an easy victory over the Region 2 qualifier. Belleville coach Bob LaPointe, however, predicts the going will be tougher Saturday against Monroe. Monroe ousted an excellent Clarkston team in the first-round and the Trojans will pay the Tigers a visit Saturday afternoon to decide which team will be regional champs and who will have to store their uniforms until next year. Salem runners set area pace at state finals

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Battling arctic winds and a course that had been swept of approximately 2 inches of snow earlier creating slippery conditions, Plymouth-Salem's premier runners - Scott Pengelly and Jered Beniecki - managed to finish among the top 10 at the Class A state cross country championships staged on Saturday on the 5,000-meter Saskatoon Golf Course in Grand Rapids.

Pengelly, the fourth-best runner overall in the field of some 190 athletes, and Beniecki, who finished 10th-overall, were awarded All-State recognition after leading the Rocks to an eighth-place finish at state.

Pengelly toured the icy tundra in 16:07 to earn a fourth-place medal, while Beniecki covered the distance in 16:19.

Redford Catholic Central's Joe Leo posted a 15:42, the best time in the team phase of the competition. However, Dearborn Fordson's stellar runner, Abdul Alzindani, brushed aside the inclement weather and breezed past the competition and crossed the finish line in an incredible 15:20.

Brighton captured the men's division state championship, amassing a total of 133 for the victory. A far-second were the runners from White Lake Lakeland, which was runnerup by virtue of its 157 points. Traverse City was third with 161.

Monroe, defending the prestige of the Mega Conference, Red Division, placed seventh (244), while Salem, a Western Lakes Affiliate, was eighth with 247 points.

A young Belleville team, sans seniors, and making its debut as a team at the Class A state championships, settled for 23-rd spot after coach Sam Vicchy's runners gathered 511 points.

Troy Athens surfaced with the best women's team. The state champs had 102 points.

Vicchy said he was disappointed the Tigers didn't finish among the top 20 but was satisfied that the kids gave it their best.

"We had three best personal times," said the Belleville coach. "And with no seniors in this lineup, I look for better things in the future."

The Tigers counted the scores of Beth Hiser, who finished 79th (20:42); Tammy Pietrowski, 82nd (20:43); Kathy Ackron, 87th (20:46); Michelle King, 110th (21:04); Missy Arter, 185 (24:07).

Belleville's Lisa Jones was 152 (22:07) and Jamie Koren, 163 (22:25).

Although Belleville has sent individuals to the state finals, this was the first time the school had qualified as a team. In order for a team to qualify for state competition, the team must finish in the top three at its regional. Belleville was second this year to regional champ, Bedford.

Ineligible player costs Robichaud SAC grid crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has informed the Westwood School District that its high school varsity football team will have to forfeit all games that an apparent ineligible player participated in this season.

John Johnson, MHSAA spokesperson, said the ineligible player, who he refused to name, was a transfer-athlete from Willow Run, who did not reside in the school district.

"The school district knew of the consequences prior to the use of this player and they decided to allow him to play," Johnson said. "Under the MHSAA's 'Restitution Rule' Robichaud will have to forfeit all games that this ineligible player participated in."

Robichaud High School Principal Robert Yauck, who also is the varsity football coach, said that he has seen and read the communication from the state and is "totally frustrated and a bit angered at the (MHSAA) action".

"By their action, the MHSAA is penalizing our kids and innocent people. This definitely will be appealed,"

Yauck added.

Yauck said the player in question had a court order that, in essence, stated that if the school district refused to allow him to compete, the school district would be held in contempt of court.

"If I had not obeyed that (court) order, I would have not only been held in contempt, but may have also been slapped with a civil lawsuit. It was a Catch 22 situation, and I asked our school district attorney what action I should take.

"The attorney informed me that it would be best to abide by the court order."

The order, signed by a Washtenaw County Probate Judge, was later set aside by a district court judge, according to Yauck.

The higher court ruling came down after Robichaud had used the illegible player.

Robichaud won all five of its Suburban Athletic Conference games to win the SAC title. How many of these games the controversial player participated in, school officials would not say.

Johnson said that the MHSAA doesn't have the authority to order Robichaud to return the championship to the conference, "that would be up to the conference officials."

"However, we do have the right to rule on the eligibility or ineligibility of an athlete and this athlete, after the MHSAA's investigation, has been deemed ineligible."

Earlier this year, Westwood had informed the SAC it would be severing its ties with the conference after the current school year. Robichaud will be competing as an independent because, according to Yauck, there are now two Class C schools in the conference and "because of that, it would be very difficult for us to make the playoffs."

Robichaud is a Class B school. One of the two Class C schools, Ecorse, has been dropped into the Class D classification, according to state officials. (See sidebar on the 1996 school classifications on Page B-2.)

If Robichaud should appeal the MHSAA ruling, and the higher courts determine that the MHSAA actions were within its jurisdiction, then Highland Park would be awarded the 1995 SAC championship.

Comets to host 'Super Bowl'

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

With the city championships now history, the Westland Youth Athletic Association turns its sights to the post-season playoffs and the "Super Bowl".

WYAA officials announced last week that the Comets have been designated as the hosts for the 1995 Western Suburban Junior Football Conference's annual "Super Bowl" games.

That announcement came from WYAA Commissioner Keith DeMolay who stressed that "there should be some real good games between good teams."

The three-game series will be staged on Sunday (Nov. 12) at Westland John Glenn High School.

The first game, scheduled for noon, will pit the Ypsilanti Braves against the Northville Colts' freshman team.

Immediately after the freshmen confrontation, the Plymouth Steelers, sporting an 8-0-1 record, will take on the Ypsi Braves, who have an identical record in the Junior Division.

The three-game series will be staged on Sunday (Nov. 12) at Westland John Glenn High School.

Finally, the Ypsilanti Braves will clash with the Westland Meteors Varsity team. The Meteors earned the right to play in the "Bowl" by beating the Comets, 27-14, in the playoffs. The loss snapped a Comets' nine-game winning streak.

On Sunday, at Wayne Memorial, the Comets' freshmen team managed to turn back the Meteors, 19-13, for the city championship. It was the first time in five years that the Comets had owned the title.

In other title-deciding games, the Comets won the city title in the varsity division 26-6, but lost the rematch in the playoffs, 27-14. In the Junior Varsity division, the Comets won a 18-12 decision. It was the first time since 1989 that the Comets had claimed the city title.

Coaches draft 9 local standouts for all-conference football team

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Although their teams didn't finish atop of their divisions, Plymouth-Canton and Westland John Glenn football standouts were not overlooked by the Western Lakes Conference coaches when it came time to pick the prestigious all-conference team for the 1995 season.

The three local teams in the conference placed a total of nine players - six on offense and three on defense on the mythical all-conference teams.

The offense is anchored by 5-10, 220-pound Glenn senior center Jeff Cook, whose teammate Mike Sosnowski held down one of the interior lineman posts on offense.

Salem's Tom Bish (6-5, 225) was also picked as an interior lineman, while teammate Kirk Craggs (6-3, 175) was named to the all-star lineup as a tight end.

In the meantime, coaches drafted Canton's versatile athlete, Ron Hunter (6-4, 190) as a wide receiver. Hunter is also a standout in basketball, a sport he has lettered in for the past three years.

Western Lakes coaches gave the conference's quarterback assignment to Rob Johnson (6-4, 190) who led the Chiefs to a 4-1 finish in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Conference.

Undefeated Harrison (5-0) won the Western Division title and went on to defeat Livonia Stevenson (5-0) to repeat as the conference champ.

On defense, Glenn placed two and Canton had one player in the lineup.

The Westlanders are represented by linebacker Matt Griglio, a 5-11, 200-pound junior, and Bernie Toby, a 5-11, 140-pound senior who was picked as a defensive halfback.

Tigers

and raced back 42-yards for the six-pointer.

In fact, in three snaps from center, Belleville had two touchdowns. Quarterback Nate Lewis scored the other TD thanks to a perfectly-executed option play that allowed the senior QB to sprint 56 yards to the Cavaliers' end zone.

Flint didn't threaten against Belleville's defense. The defense, spearheaded by Eric Summers, an outside linebacker, Steve Wolf, inside linebacker, Chris Jenkins, and Corey Gold, a 6-1, 230-pound sophomore and Ian's younger brother, played the field as if they knew Flint's plays better than those who were on the other side of the line.

Flint couldn't stop the volatile Tiger offense, even though LaPointe substituted indiscriminately. Senior running back Joe Manuel got the Tigers on the scoreboard in the third quarter with another dazzling 60-yard run and Lewis cashed in a broke play for a 65-yard TD run.

Belleville amassed an incredible 400-yards on the ground. Needless to say, Lewis did not need to go to the air. The senior QB compiled 132-yards on three carries and two TDs.

Manuel also continued to star as he left the defense in the dust. He finished the cold evening with a warm 116-yards

Sidelined with a leg injury for the past two weeks, Belleville senior fullback Ian Gold (No. 21) returned to the Tiger lineup briefly on Friday to play against visiting Flint Carman-Ainsworth. In his first rushing attempt, Gold picked up five yards; the next two times he ran for long touchdowns to help Belleville post its first-ever playoff victory. Gold was placed on the sidelines after the first-quarter to be saved for another day. Belleville will meet Mega Conference, Red Division opponent, Monroe, for the second time this season on Saturday to determine the Class AA region 2 championship. To the winner goes the regional title and a chance to play in the state quarterfinal. MCN photo by Carl Brown on three rushes. Teammate Mike Williams scored a touchdown from 30-yards out and chipped in with 56 yards on six attempts.

It could have been even worse for Flint.

Belleville freshman T. J. Bobbit broke loose on a 42-yard sprint and had clearance from the traffic control that there were no obstacles in his way to go all the way, but a hamstring decided to pull him up short of the goal line.

LaPointe said after the game that it "was really cold and I felt sorry for the kids."

But who cares how cold it is when your team wins the game.

Fans to help pick All-Area

Yes, the Sports Staff knows about Belleville High super star Ian Gold.

And also about Gold's teammate, running back Joe Manuel.

But who else should be named to the Michigan Community Newspapers' coveted All-Area football team?

You may be able to help us answer that question.

If you feel there are some players that MCN Staff Writers may overlook during the selection process, why not nominate them? However, players must be from the MCN's circulation area to qualify.

They must also attend one of the following high schools: Belleville, Romulus, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Plymouth-Salem, Plymouth-Canton, Dearborn Heights Robichaud or Inkster High.

Although it is obvious that Belleville may also have the inside track on the Coach of the Year thanks to the Tigers' 10 consecutive victories, fans may also want to express their thoughts on who else should be given consideration for the honor.

Please mail your nominations to: Michigan Community Newspapers, C/O Sports Desk, 35540 Michigan Ave.

Or, if you prefer direct contact with our Sports Staff, telephone Staff Writer Tom Mooradian at 729-4000 during regular business hours, Monday through Friday.

By the way, as in the past, the MCN staff will select both an Offense and a Defense. It will also include a Honorable Mention.

Wayne star plays for Grand Valley

Former Wayne High football star and All-Area griddy Bruce Calhoun is a member of the Grand Valley State football team which is battling for second-place in the Midwest Intercollegiate Conference.

Calhoun, a 6-0 and 201-pound athlete, is the starting fullback for the Lakers and is currently ranked fourth on the team in rushing. He has gained 213 yards on 35 attempts, including two touchdowns.

MHSAA announces school classifications

Trenton, a Mega Conference affiliate, will compete as a Class A school instead of Class B and Ecorse, a Suburban Athletic Conference member, will move down a notch to Class D, according to classifications announced this week by the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

The MHSAA is the august body that regulates high school sports in the state of Michigan.

The procedure by which classification breaks are determined involves the figures submitted by members to the MHSAA from their fourth Friday (Oct. 6) count, minus students ineligible for athletic competition because they reached their 19th birthday prior to Sept. 1 or students enrolled in other schools in special education programs because of learning handicaps.

Effective Jan. 1, 1996, schools with 985 or more students will compete in Class A in MHSAA competition. The enrollment limits for Class B are 519 to 984; Class C is 262 to 518; and schools with enrollments of 261 and under are Class D.

According to MHSAA officials there was a break decrease of six students for Class A, an increase of eight students for Class B, and six-student increase for the break between Class C and Class D.

Schools were recently notified of their classification. MHSAA Executive Director John E. Roberts said that schools may not appeal their classification if the appeal is to play in the lower class. However, if revised enrollment figures indicate that a school should be playing in a higher class, that school would be moved up.

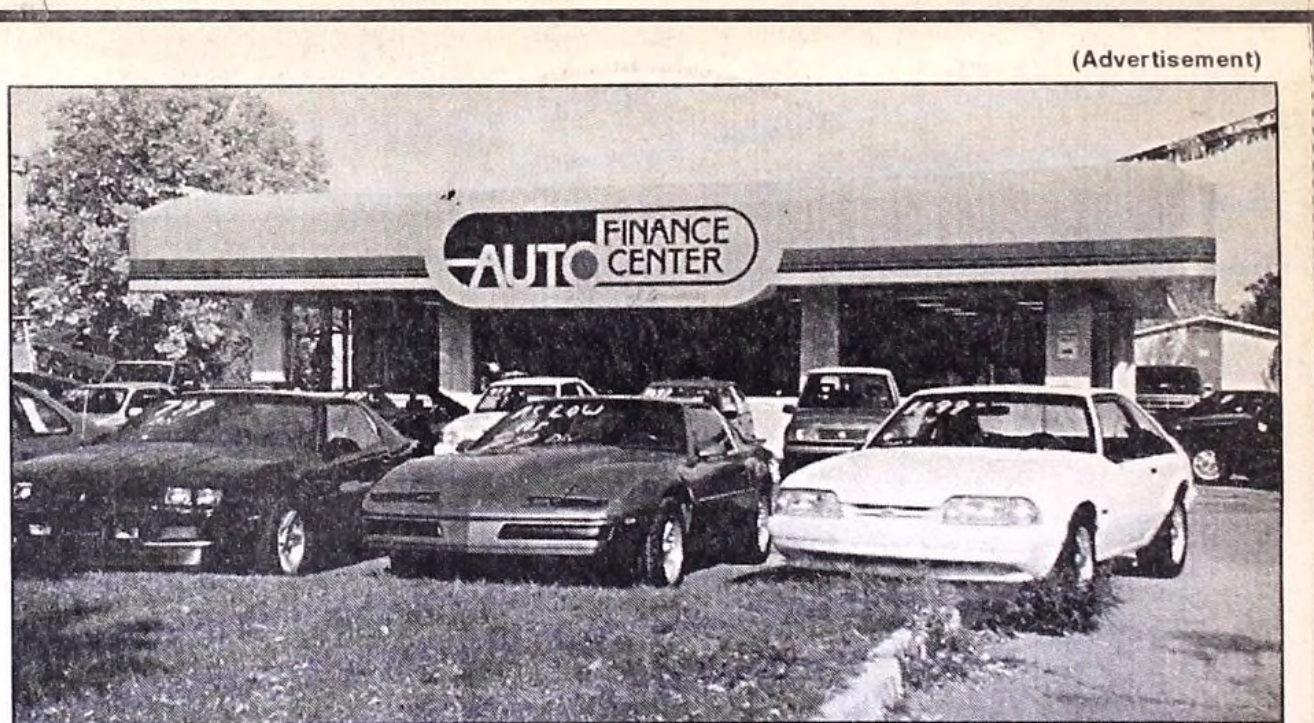

This year, there are 178 Class A and Class B; 177 in Class C and 180 schools in Class D. Also, there are six member schools that either do not sponsor athletic teams or are not eligible for MHSAA tournaments in 1995-96.

There are 16 schools that will move up to Class A for 1996, while 15 schools will move down.

Moving up with Trenton will be Mason, Lowell, Lansing Waverly, Ionia, Hudsonville and Fruitport; moving down from Class A to Class B are Oak Park, Taylor, Warren Lincoln, Grand Rapids Northview, Niles and Charlotte.

New schools participating in sports this year are Plymouth-Agape Christian, which is in Class D.

There are 16 schools that will move up to Class A...

Belleville outscores Annapolis

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

The Belleville Tigers girls basketball team is tied for second place in the Mega-Blue Division.

Their coach, Bob Mercer said, "They have played better than expected this year. They are good as a unit. When they run the press well, they do well."

Their record is 9-3, thanks to a 43-34 win over Annapolis Oct.

31. The Tigers dominated the first quarter, with their defense pouncing all over Annapolis. The quarter ended, 10-4, in favor of Belleville.

The opposition came around in the second quarter, outscoring Belleville 11-6. At the half, the Tigers were clinging to a 16-15 lead.

The Tigers clawed their way back in the third quarter. While the defense held Annapolis to 11 points, the offense took advice from Mercer, who shouted, "Turn it up!" They did what he said, scoring 20 points.

Heading into the final quarter, Belleville was ahead, 36-26. Annapolis attempted a comeback towards the end of the game, but it was too late.

Scoring for Belleville were Tanesha Edwards (14), Robyn Golden (2), Bobbi Jo Stevens (13), Amanda Murray (10), Kyhia Bostic (2) and Jenny Christ-man (2).

Mercer said he has noticed some changes in the way the girls have played this season. "They have played with more intensity."

The coach also said the girls have achieved some of the goals they set at the beginning of the season. "We set the goal to be at least a .500 team. We are well over that. The girls are playing together as a unit."

North Middle School girls basketball enjoys 9-1 season, best in 25 years

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

The North Middle School girls basketball team is basking in the glow of their best season in 25 years.

They ended their season 9-1. Their one loss was protested, but nothing came of it.

According to their coach, David Bagardi, "This was the best season ever for the girls."

Bagardi, in his fourth year coaching the girls, teaches them that defense is the best offense. "I always stress defense. It wins the games. The girls worked hard in practice and in the games. They earned the record they got."

The coach named Kimika Edwards, Ryan and Kristen Kilgore, Amber Ford, Audrey

Mullins and Linn Caudill as his strongest players. "These were my primary players," Bagardi stated. "When the games got tight, they were on the floor. But, I could list the whole team as my strongest players."

The only game the Vikings lost was against Wyandotte. There was some question about the time-clock. North

Rockets optimistic about playoffs

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

With a 3-12 record, Westland John Glenn's girls basketball team remains optimistic as the play-offs near.

In their game against Farmington, the Rockets lost, 40-32. Coach Andrew Denison said the girls played good defensively, but they didn't shoot very well. High scorers in this game were Katy Duncan (11) and Rochelle Harris (11).

Although their record doesn't show it, Denison said he has definitely noticed improvement in his team in both offense and defense. "They have played hard and hung in there. They are playing more as a team than on an individual basis," the coach said.

"Slowly and surely, we are achieving our goals. The girls haven't met all of the goals I set for them," Denison said. "But, in two weeks it won't matter anyhow. They throw out the records when you get to the districts."

Area student makes strides at Detroit Mercy

The University of Detroit Mercy women's cross country team placed third out of nine teams at the MCC Championships in Milwaukee, Wis.

Helping her team to this good finish was senior Jeanette Schmitt. The Wayne resident turned in a top 10 finish with a time of 19:34, earning her All-MCC honors.

"I am very proud of Jeanette," coach Guy Murray said. "She was struggling in the year, but she stayed focused and made the last half of the year great. She deserved this honor for all that she has done for UDM in her career."

The men's cross country team placed fourth out of seven teams in this competition.

Freshman Brian Mock-eridge of Belleville turned in the best Titan performance at the MCC Championships with a time of 27:30, good for 18th place. It was the third-best time turned in by a freshman.

"He has steadily improved," coach Murray said. "To improve as a runner, he needs to improve his focus and his last two miles."

Is a Michigan MBA that important?

Should we tell the world how important our MBA program is by changing the University logo? We probably couldn't get away with it, but many graduates (and even more potential employers) think that a Masters degree in Business Administration from the University of Michigan is among the strongest in the field. Good news for you.

The School of Management now offers two graduate degree programs at the Dearborn campus. There is a dual degree program leading to both the Master of Business Administration and Master of Science in Engineering—Industrial and Systems Engineering. Then there is the MBA program which is designed as a crossover vehicle for those whose undergraduate degrees are in areas other than business administration.

Of course, with the Dearborn campus, things are even more convenient for many students. Not easier, just more convenient. After all, this is the University of Michigan. Go Blue!

From UofM-Dearborn.

Two great choices for one great future!

Rocks finish third at WLAA

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

As the host of the WLAA conference finals, the Plymouth-Salem swimmers allowed only two teams to finish ahead of them, Livonia Stevenson and Northville Adams.

The Rocks placed highly in many of the events, including the relays. The medley relay team of Yvonne Lynn, Katie Bonner, Sara Casillas and Carrie Dzilai finished with a time of 1:55.12. The 500 free relay team finished fifth, with a time of 1:45.03. The girls who swam in this event were, Kelly Ann Williams, Dzilai, Kathy Kelly and Andrea Bien. The 400 free relay with Williams, Bien, Casillas and Audrey Hala took fourth place, with a time of 3:49.60.

The girls swam well in individual events also. Hala took fifth in the 200 free (2:02.48), and third in the 500 free (5:26.96). Lynn swam into fifth place in the 200 I.M. (2:21.10), and fourth in the backstroke (1:02.78). Williams placed fifth in the 100 free (56.46), and Bonner took sixth in the breastroke (1:14.52).

Not to be outdone by their swimming teammates, the Salem divers also did very well. Zoe Yockey took first place in the diving competition with 449.35 points, followed in fourth place by Laura Berezak.

Coach Chuck Olson said, "They swam pretty well. We were only 20 points behind second place. We are looking forward to the state competition."

Going to the state competition Nov. 17-18 will be the three relay teams, Dzilai for the 50 freestyle, Hala for the 500 freestyle, and Lynn for the backstroke. Yockey and Berezak will also make appearances in the diving competition.

Olson said his team accomplished many of the goals they set this year, but not all of them. "We would have liked to have taken second, but all we can do is swim fast. Some of our goals have yet to be reached, we've still got the state meet. We've had a very successful year, and I can't see any reason to do anything differently. We have a good group of swimmers and divers going to the state meet. It's going to be fun."

Rockets swimmers finish in 10th place

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

The Westland John Glenn girls swim team had hoped to do better at the Western Lakes Athletic Association conference finals.

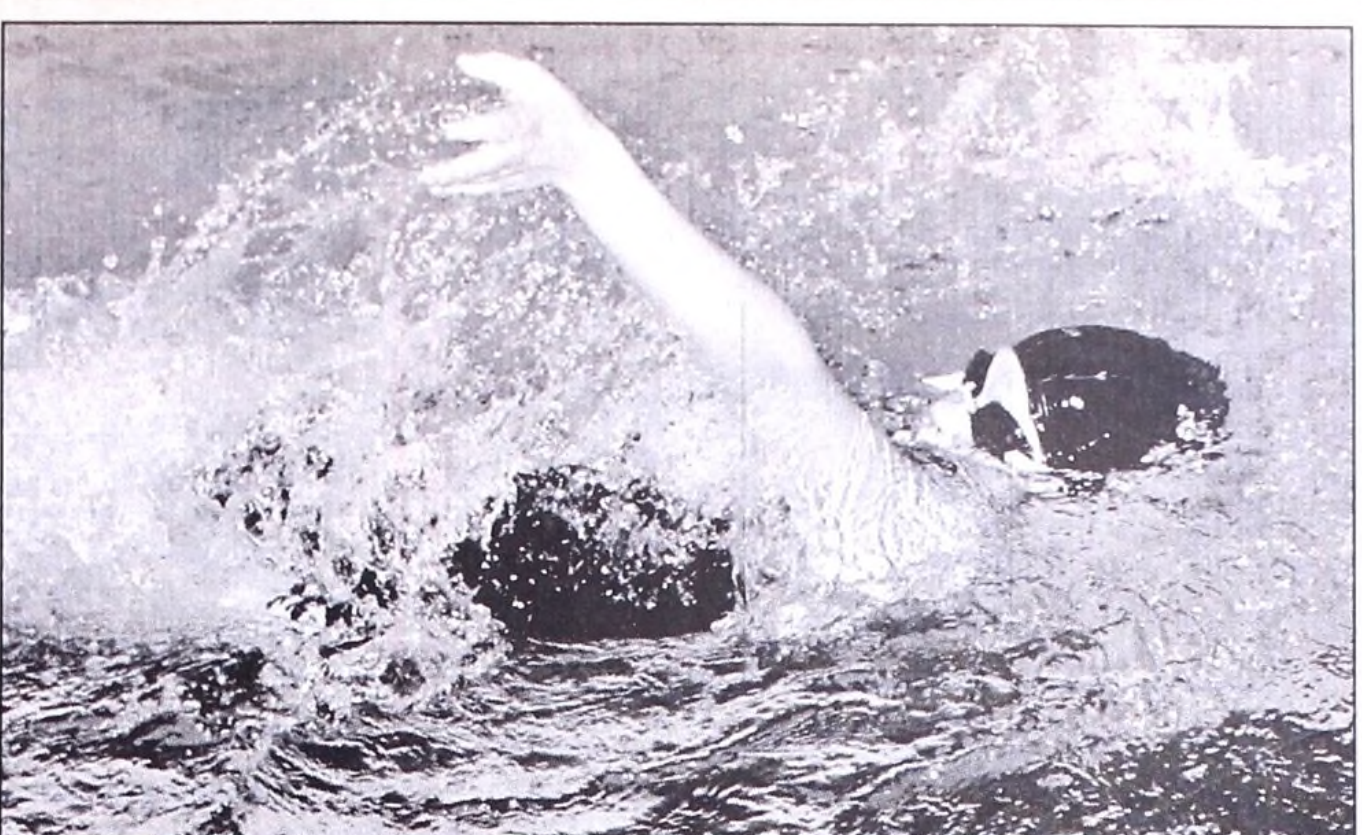

After finishing 10th out of 11 teams, Jim Daniel, the Rockets' assistant coach said, "We thought we had a shot at ninth place. They performed as well as we thought they would. We are pleased that Adrienne did so well, and the medly relay team did a good job too."

Adrienne Turri, a sophomore who is now preparing for her second visit to the state meet, was one of John Glenn's toughest swimmers. She finished fourth in the 100 butterfly, and is now the conference champ in the backstroke, after finishing first.

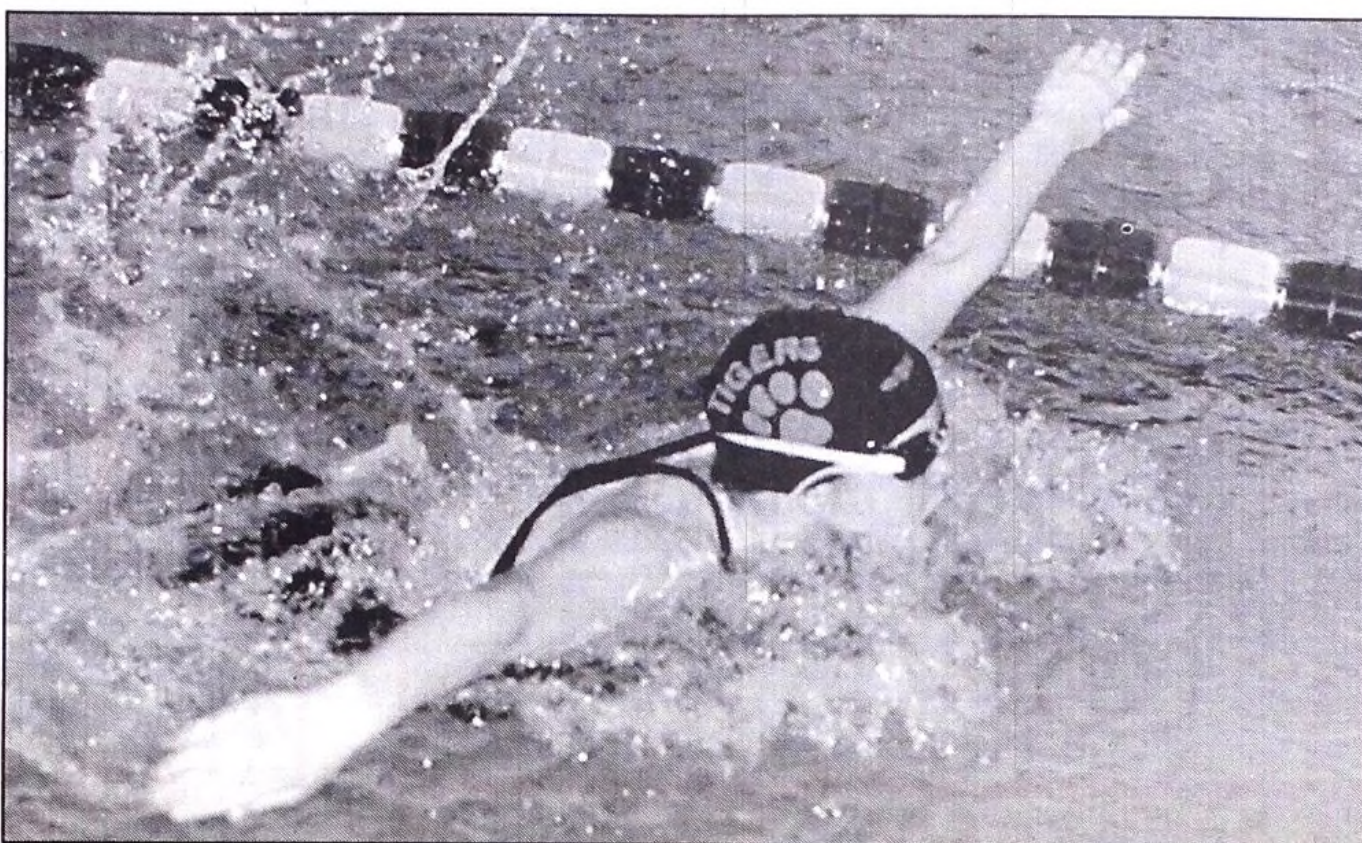

The medley relay team, consisting of Turri, Kristen Kordie, Jill McPartlin and Kristen Stone swam their way to seventh place.

John Glenn placed ninth in the 200 free relay, with Jill McPartlin, Jamie McPartlin, Turri and Stone.

Stone also placed well individually, coming in 10th in the 50 freestyle and the 100.

Area swimmers do well at WLAA meet

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

After a terrific year in which they finished 4-1 in division meets, the Plymouth-Canton swimmers took fifth place at the Western Lakes Athletics Association conference finals.

"We were behind Livonia Stevenson, who are in a class by themselves, Northville, who were outstanding, Salem who did well, and Farmington, who also did well," according to Ron Krueger, coach of the Chiefs. "For us to reach fifth was a strong effort."

Krueger said the girls swam well, and that 90 percent of them had their best times ever. The medley relay team came in ninth (2:05). The team consisted of Kristi Drinkon, Jacquelyn Bernard, Carla Howe, and Megan Dowd. The 200 free relay team of Amy Sonmastine, Terri Hanson, Sue Fanning, and Angie Frost sixth place (1:47.79), while the same team took fifth in the 400 freestyle relay (3:54.15).

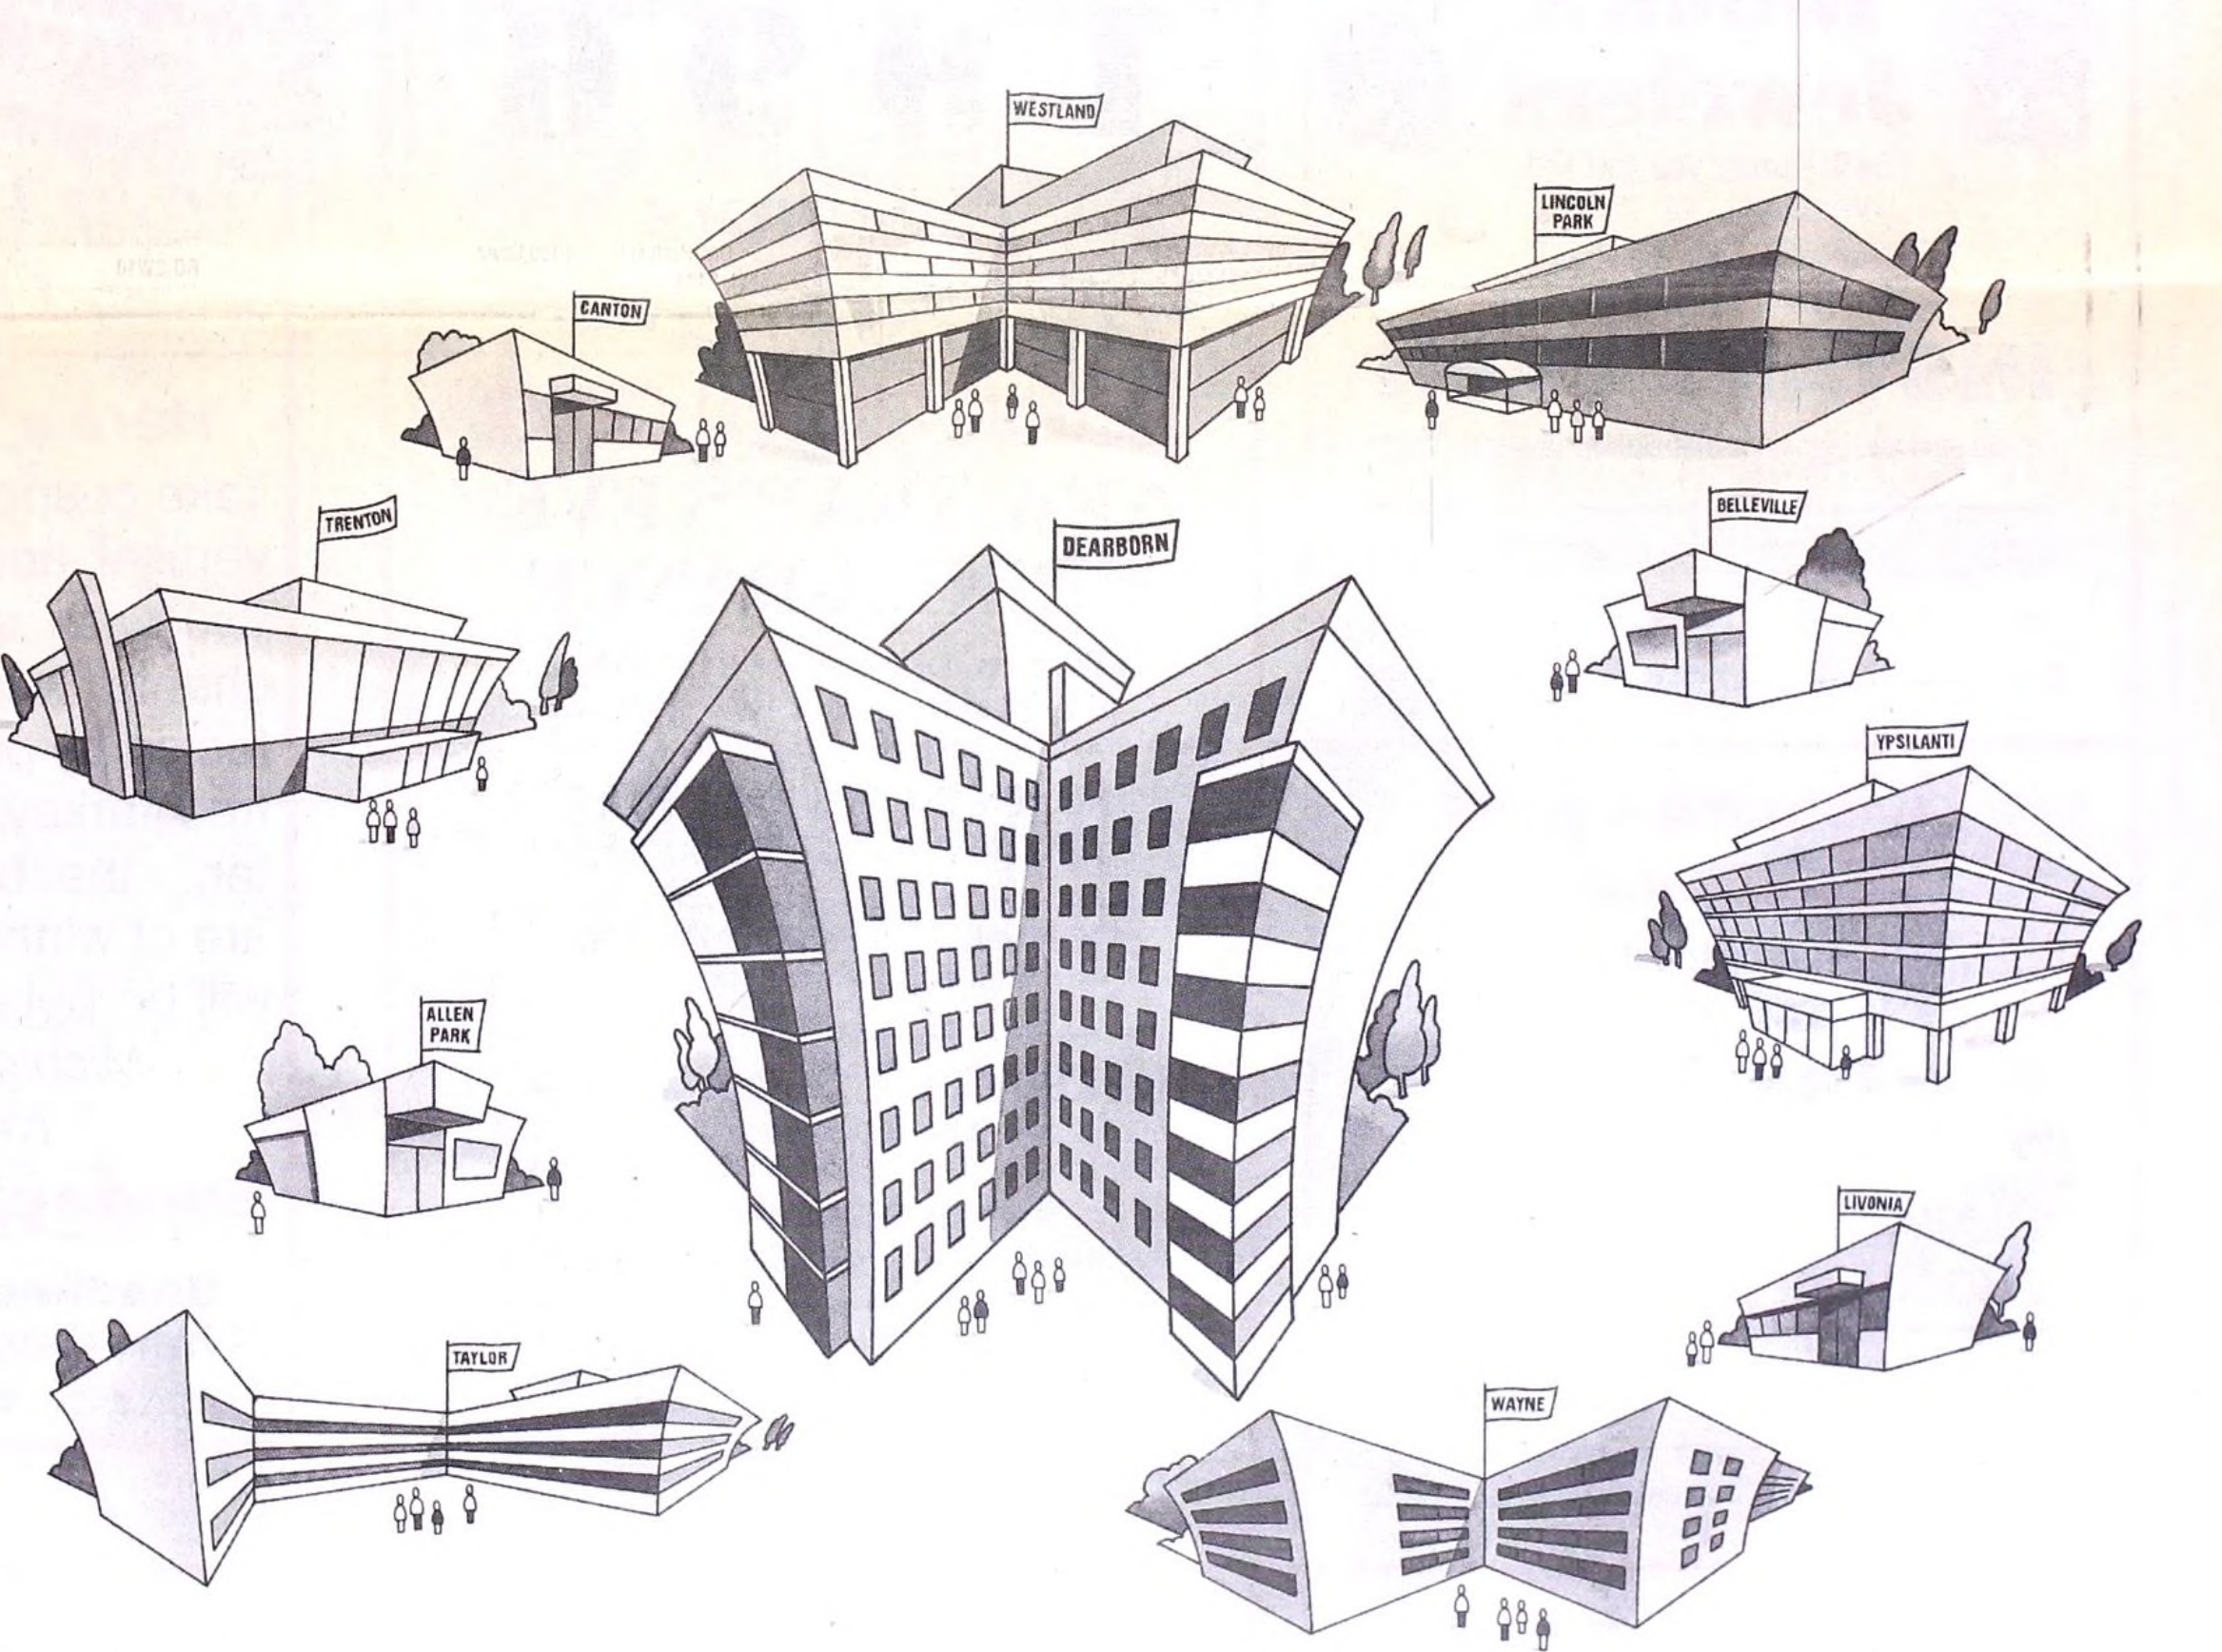

Sonmastine finished ninth in the 200 free (2:08.46). Frost reached her best time ever in the 200 I.M. (2:23.6), coming in eighth place. She also had her personal best in the 100 freestyle, with 57.9, putting her in eighth place. Freshman Hanson finished second in the 50 freestyle, lowering her state-cut time to 25.16. She lost to the Livonia swimmer who is probably the best in the state.

Healthcare So Good, It Had To Be Spread Around

"Oakwood" is commonly thought of as our very first facility, Oakwood Hospital and Medical Center-Dearborn. But there's more to Oakwood than that, today. Because there are more Oakwood services in a lot more places than just Dearborn today.

There's now, Oakwood Hospital Annapolis Center-Wayne; Oakwood Hospital Beyer Center-Ypsilanti; Oakwood Hospital Heritage Center-Taylor; Oakwood

Hospital Seaway Center-Trenton; Oakwood Hospital Downriver Center-Lincoln Park and Oakwood Hospital Merriman Center-Westland, too. And there are over 30 healthcare and specialty centers throughout Southeastern Michigan.

These branches share the original Oakwood commitment, a dedication to first-rate medical care from some of the finest physicians available, supported by the latest diagnostic equipment and excellent support staff.

Our goal has been to provide you with high-quality healthcare where you need it most. Right where you live.

For the Oakwood branch nearest you, call 1-800-543-WELL.

Committed to your health.

OBITUARIES

Naval, Celestino

Celestino B. Naval, 88, of Van Buren Township, died Oct. 27, 1995 at Beyer Hospital.

A native of The Phillipines, he came to the U.S. in the 1920's and was employed for 42 years by General Motors, Chevrolet Gear and Axle, as a grinder.

After his retirement, he served as a bartender at the Detroit Boat Club and the Birmingham Athletic Club.

Survivors include his wife, Mamie; two sons, Cecil G. Naval of Belleville and Raymond (Durinda) of Fort Myers, Fla.; two daughters, Cecile (Albert) Boglarsky of Westland and Linda Burbank of Detroit; a sister from The Phillipines; 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

He was predeceased by his parents, Romualdo and Martha; a son, Ronnie; a grandson, Nicholas Burbank; and a step-grandchild, Joseph Burbank.

The funeral was conducted at St. Anthony's Church with the Rev. Tom Cusick officiating. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery of Belleville. Arrangements were completed by the Paulus-Roberts Brothers Funeral Home of Belleville.

Fisher, Edward

Edward Roger (Charlie) Fisher, 31, of Commerce City, died of injuries sustained in an auto accident in Aurora on Aug. 30, 1995.

Born on April 6, 1964 in Garden City, he attended Adams City Jr. High School and later worked as a construction laborer. He was a member of the C.B. Enthusiast Handle-Colo. Agitator and of the Eagles Post 3461.

Survivors include his wife, Amanda of Aurora; four sons, Edward R. Fisher Jr. and Jess M. Fisher, both of Cedar Springs, James R. Fisher of Ypsilanti and Mathew W. Fisher of Commerce City; two step-daughters, Crystal Tapley and Vivian Tapley, both of Aurora; his step-parents, Rudy and Linda Archuleta of Henderson; another step-father, Tobias Martinez of Brighton; his father, Edward Leslie Fisher; four step-sisters, Leslie and Stacie Fisher, Cathy Gonzales and Tammy Rochrich; two brothers, Dale R. and Darrell G. Walker, both of Madison, W. Virginia; and two step-brothers, Mark Rochrich of Romulus and Rudy Archuleta of Commerce City and numerous aunts and uncles.

The funeral was conducted at the Aspen Magnolia Chapel in Commerce City. Burial of the cremains was at Jackson Stark Cemetery of Benton, Ky.

Smith, Alvin

Alvin E. Smith, 58, formerly of Ypsilanti, died Aug. 13, 1995 in Falkland N.C. Arrangements were completed by the Wilkerson Funeral Home of Greenville, N.C.

Hanley, Genevieve

Genevieve A. Hanley, 96, of Westland, died Oct. 26, 1995 in Wayne.

Born in Chicago, Ill. on Jan. 29, 1899, she was a homemaker.

Survivors include a son, John M. of Westland; two nieces; 10 grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

The funeral was conducted at the Vermeulen Memorial Funeral Home with the Rev. Leonard Partensky officiating. Interment was in Cadillac Memorial Gardens West.

The family requests that memorials be offered in the form of Mass offerings.

Carmon, Frederick

Frederick E. Carmon, 87, of Wayne, died Oct. 30, 1995 in Annapolis Center of Oakwood Hospital.

MANAGEMENT
CHECKING

Why let a good deal of money lie around in low-interest checking, savings or money-market accounts when it could be earning more in our Cash Management Checking account? The portion of your balance over $5,000 earns a higher return tied to the Fed Funds Rate.* You can write all the checks you want and use your ATM card anywhere. And it's FDIC insured. So stop by your local First of America office or dial 1-800-222-4FOA, Mon.-Fri., 8 a.m.-9 p.m.; Sun., 9 a.m.-1 p.m., to open your account by phone.

Much is being said about the rigorous screening process we put our doctors through.
But don't worry.
Some survive.

It's a tall order. And maybe not every doctor is cut out for it. But then if we're going to make things easier for our patients, we must strive to provide quality doctors. So, before any doctors become Blue Care Network doctors, before they ever examine a single patient, they must first meet or surpass some rather lofty standards. Here's what it takes. First, all doctors (personal care physicians and specialists) are reviewed against specific written criteria. (Quality of care is the thing we're measuring here.)

Moreover, an on-site inspection is conducted by specially trained staff and the results are reviewed by Blue Care Network doctors in the area.

Patient satisfaction surveys are conducted by a professional, independent research company. Here, we ask patients to evaluate their doctor's technical skills as well as the basic level of service and care.

Blue Care Network also works with its personal care physicians to ensure that standards are met.

Oh, and one more thing.

After meeting all these standards, the doctors who are selected have the pleasure of repeating this process all over again every two years. For as long as they're with us.

Blue Care Network

We screen our doctors so you get better choices.

Judge to address ways to deter juvenile crime

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

In the continuing effort to battle gang activity in the community, area residents are invited to attend the Citizen's Against Crime Committee meeting 7 p.m. Nov. 14 at the Wayne Community Center.

The guest speaker will be 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold who will share her expertise in juvenile crime on misdemeanor and civil infractions that go before her.

She will also offer suggestions as to what the community and parents can do to help deter juvenile crime as well as offer her opinions on responding to juveniles being deferred to city programs from the juvenile court without local enforcement.

Roles of parental participation and cooperation involved with children's behavior will also be discussed.

A question and answer session will follow. There is no charge to participate in the presentation.

Area book store hosts food drive for strikers

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

A food drive is being organized by Crazy Barb's Paperback Exchange in Wayne to help Detroit News and Free Press strikers.

"We are collecting non-perishable goods of all kinds for those strikers," said Barb Coleman, owner of Crazy Barb's. "We decided to help them out since the strike has gone on for so many weeks, and there are a lot of good people out there."

The deadline for collection is Nov. 21. Anyone interested in participating can drop off their goods at the store which is located at 3127 south Wayne Road in Wayne.

Store hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

For more information on the food drive contact Coleman at 728-6663.

$6 million sliced from proposed Willow budget

No money is left in the Wayne County's 1995-96 fiscal year budget for the capital improvement plan of extending a runway at Willow Run airport.

In what has been described as an "adroit legislative maneuver," Wayne County Commissioners Bruce Patterson, vice chair of the Ways and Means Committee (R-Canton, 11th district) and Thaddeus McCotter, chair of the economic development committee (R-Livonia, 10th district) managed to cut over $6 million from the Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara's proposed budget.

Patterson and McCotter formed a coalition of commissioners and eliminated the entire amount of money placed under "capital improvement funding." According to Patterson and McCotter, this action protects "the quality of life for the communities of Canton Township, Van Buren Township, Wayne, Belleville, Sumpter Township, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township."

"I am very pleased that we were able to achieve this budget revision," Patterson said. "I am beginning to believe that all the hard work might just pay off in the end."

McCotter said, "Whatever their public denials, the McNamara Administration's actions prove they are determined to extend the runway. The administration's intransigence on this issue, in the face of overwhelming community opposition (Canton Township adopted a resolution Oct. 24 in opposition), is totally unacceptable."

Both commissioners said they would continue going to Lansing to prevent funding from the state of Michigan.

After 21 years, Jaguar is still king of the jungle

By JUSTIN WILCOX
MCN Automotive Writer

Jaguar has a great philosophy with this car - if it is not broke, don't fix it.

What's as heavy as a truck, as regal as the crown jewels and won't last much longer? Give up? Well, you better hurry and scrape up $83,000 and get yourself a Jaguar XJS.

Why, you ask? Because 1996 marks the 20th birthday of this beauty, making it the longest-lived Jaguar model ever. Unfortunately, 1996 also marks the end of this model.

That's what I thought. There you go, flipping through your savings book.

In 21 model years, more than 100,000 XJS coupes and convertibles have been built, a record for longevity and production which is longer than the legendary E-type Jaguar which had 72,507 cars built over 13 years.

What does eighty-three grand buy these days? Well, I am glad that you asked.

For starters, you get a silky-smooth V-12 (not available in '96), four wheel disc brakes with ABS, an anti-theft device, a power convertible top, power seats with memory, walnut trim, CD player, limited slip differential and a deck lid spoiler.

I know, I know, eighty-three grand is a lot of money, but you have to drive this car before you make any snap-judgments. To start with, the top lowers in a matter of seconds, letting the sun shine in. The open road begins to look like the pathway to the land of Oz.

The sunshine part was unfortunately nonexistent when I was able to put the top down. The temperature was also a balmy 47 degrees. Yes, I almost froze my extremities off while doing 80 miles per hour down the interstate, but ask me if I cared. Nope.

This graceful cat has aged very well. Typically cars look dated after only a few short years, but this car still manages to turn every head on the road. Jaguar has a great philosophy with this car - if it is not broke, don't fix it. Twenty years of success can't be wrong.

The only real downside that I could find about this car, besides the obvious tenancy to get bugs in your teeth while commuting with the top down, was the fuel economy. The bright-yellow Dodge Viper that I tested a few weeks ago had a better EPA rating. The Jaguar XJS is rated at 12 mpg in the city and 16 mpg on the highway.

The Jaguar XJS is deemed a 2+2 seater. But, unless you are a member of the Munchkin family, you will not want to sit in the backseat. To make up for this lack of leg room, the Jaguar XJS has a spacious trunk, large enough to hold a set of golf clubs with no major hassles.

The British may be pompous, but they sure know how to build one hell of a beautiful car. You can take that to the bank. While you are there, can you possibly lend me the money for a down-payment?
